WINTER'S FIRST SNOW CAUSES TRAFFIC TIEUPS IN CITY

Winter's opening blast caught many motorists unprepared. Automobiles and trucks without chains were stranded on streets and hills about the city as snow made traffic lanes hazardous today. This picture taken from between North and Falls street shows the traffic congestion on the approach to Jefferson street hill.

First Spell Of Winter Arrives

Over Two Inches Of Snow Blankets Area

Snow, which began falling about 5 o'clock this morning, had blanketed the local area under more than two inches of "the beautiful" by mid-morning, and showed no signs of a letup.

The snow caught many motorists unprepared for such conditions, and when the traffic started to get heavy around 8 o'clock, resulted in many traffic jams, as city and highway ashing crews went into action to ash the hills so motorists could get through.

Hills Cluttered

Most of the hillside traffic arteries became cluttered up with cars which stalled on the hillsides, and for a time travel could not move in either direction because of conditions. This was remedied later as ashes were applied. However, driving conditions continued difficult as the snow continued to fall and soon covered the first layer of ashes applied.

Motorists suffered the same fate on the big hills in the rural sections until the roads were well ashed, and many folks were late in arriving at work this morning.

Colder Weather

Snow squalls were promised throughout the day, with much colder weather tonight and Saturday.

As a matter of fact, only snow squalls were promised today, but locally it turned into a steady downfall with no letup after it once started this morning.

With no school today, the kiddies took full advantage of the situation, and coasting was the order of the day for them, along with other joys of winter.

Three deer, two large and one small, came within 10 feet of where Jimmy Ferrese of the Wilmington road, Walmo, was burning some papers in his back yard Thursday afternoon, Mr. Ferrese reports. The deer turned and ambled into some woods by the house after investigating the fire.

Quite a number of hunters were out in the woods and fields of the county, on Thanksgiving Day. Rabbits were the particular game being sought.

Weather conditions locally over Thanksgiving Day were admirable, there being no snow nor rain, and the sun shining part of the time.

Weather Extremes Feature In Nation, Thanksgiving

(By International News Service)

Sixty high school girls fainted in 111-degree heat in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum and 11,000 fans shivered in freezing weather in Chicago's Comiskey park, watching a pro football game that began in a small blizzard and ended in bright sunshine.

It was 24 degrees below zero in Havre, Mont., and 93 above in Thermal, Calif.; 14 below in Chadron, Neb., and 88 above in Phoenix, Ariz.

In Palm Springs, Cal., housewives clad in shorts and skimpy shirts served Thanksgiving turkey in 90-degree heat. In Chicago, people slipped and skidded over icy streets to family reunions on the coldest Thanksgiving day in the city weather bureau history.

Will Continue

Weather forecasters said the record heat—and cold—will continue in their respective sections for at least another day, with the midwest playing icebox to the west coast's hot stove.

Report $4,625 More Is Added To Chest Fund

An additional $4,625 was pledged to the Community Chest Wednesday at noon at a meeting of citizens with Community Chest officials in The Castleton hotel.

This amount, added to the $119,450 pledged through the campaign, brings the total amount pledged to $124,075—only $3,525 short of the campaign goal of $127,600.

Of the $4,625 pledged at Wednesday's meeting, $3,600 was pledged by the industries of the community.

About 20 persons attended the meeting while many others contacted the chest officials. A. H. Gonick, president of the Community Chest, was in charge of the meeting.

He explained the importance of meeting the goal and passed pledge cards to those present. After the cards were returned with additional pledges, Mr. Gonick thanked the men for their cooperation.

He assured them that the special plea to them for additional pledges would not be a yearly occurrence. He also expressed confidence that the goal would now be reached in a short time.

Highway Crews Cinder Roads

Traffic on Lawrence county highways was almost at a stand still this morning despite feverish efforts of cinder crews to keep the arteries open and traffic moving over the snowy roads.

Snow which began to fall shortly after 5 a. m. today had every available man on the job, according to Alfred A. Martin, county highways superintendent, but the constant light snow which kept falling made the cinder work almost useless and incessant repeating of the process was necessary to move a few cars and trucks up the hills on the various highways.

Warns Motorists

The highway head warned motorists that if it was not absolutely necessary to drive, to leave the family car at home.

"Roads are hazardous" stated Mr. Martin, and an unnecessary trip might spell disaster even to the most careful driver".

A spot check about the county revealed that the hills on the main highways about the district were literally jammed with cars and trucks which were unable to ascend the hills due to the slippery condition or because of cars crossways on the highways.

HYDRANT DAMAGED

Gen. MacArthur Tours Front In North Korea

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, Nov. 24—General MacArthur flew into the heart of enemy territory in Korea today, toured the frontlines by jeep and by air, and renewed his pledge to bring American soldiers home "for Christmas dinner."

The United Nations supreme commander—in his unarmed personal plane with an escort of jet and Mustang fighters—flew along the Yalu river border between Red China's Manchuria and Korea before he returned to his Tokyo headquarters at six o'clock tonight.

Dips In Salute

In a characteristic gesture he had his pilot dip his wings in salute to the first American unit to reach the international boundary and bade farewell to his fighter escort in a message saying he had "a grand ride."

MacArthur surprised his closest associates with his decision to fly along the Yalu and directed his plane into the so-called "dogfight" northwest corner of Korea where Russian-made enemy jets have appeared in recent weeks.

In whirlwind fashion, MacArthur—unmindful of personal danger or discomfort — jeeped along the frontlines in sub-freezing temperature while an icy wind from the Chongchon river tugged at his battered cap.

Then he took to the air for the return trip along the Yalu, satisfied with the progress of the 100,000-man UN "win the war" offensive which he had set in motion.

Rearmament Of Western Germany Seen As Necessity

DAWSON, Ga., Nov. 24.—(INS)—Defense Secretary Marshall declared today that the rearment of western Germany is a "compelling necessity" to meet the threat of Soviet aggression.

Marshall introduced National American Legion Commander Erle Cocke, Jr., at a homecoming celebration in honor of Cocke, a native of Dawson.

Marshall said that Cocke had suffered at he hands of Nazi Germany, and that therefore his attitude was important "regarding the defense of western Europe against the threat of Soviet Russia".

The defense secretary congratulated Cocke for sinking his personal feelings in recognizing not only the gravity of the present crisis but the compelling necessity it imposes of allowing Germany, we hope a new Germany, we pray a genuinely democratic Germany, to contribute to the defense of western Europe".

Four Probes Of New York Rail Wreck Started

Death Toll Is 77; 329 Injured; Sixty Still In Hospitals

By DAVID K. BOYNICK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Drastic action against the Long Island railroad was promised today by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as four investigations got underway into the Thanksgiving eve train crash which took a toll of 77 dead and 329 injured.

Sixty of the injured were still in hospitals today and some observers said that claims for compensation against the bankrupt railroad would run to about six million dollars.

Cause of Crash Obscure

The cause of the crash remained obscure. The only suggested explanation came from chief assistant district attorney J. Irwin Shapiro of Queens, who said that "it may very well be that this terrific catastrophe is a result of man failure".

As shocked and saddened residents of New York and Long Island demanded stern measures against the Long Island railroad on whose lines 109 persons have been killed and 476 injured in three crashes in the past nine months, the following investigations and actions were organized:

Gov. Dewey cut short a Miami, Fla., vacation to fly to New York where at his order the state Public Service Commission will make a complete investigation of "the shocking wreck". The tragedy, said Dewey, "demonstrated that "drastic action is necessary for the safety of the people of our state who use that railroad."

Open Hearings

The commission will open its hearings today and examine preliminary reports from engineers and investigators who worked all Thanksgiving night at the wreck scene in Richmond Hill, Queens.

New York Mayor Vincent Impellitteri, said he was "shocked and horrified", similarly cut short a vacation and flew back from Havana last night to assume personal command of an investigation by a four-man city committee.

The Queens district attorneys' office will make the third investigation into the crash of one commuter train into the rear of an earlier one. The fourth investigation is being made by the railroad itself.

Two thousand persons, many of them holiday visitors, were aboard

Ashing Hills Is Big Task During Day

Snow which began falling at five a. m. today caused a snarl in vehicular traffic in the city on all hillside thoroughfares, especially on main arteries.

Street department trucks, eight in number, manned by employes, began scattering cinders, plus salt, upon the hillside streets and intersections, but the snow got ahead of the cinders.

At 10 a. m. North Jefferson street and Highland avenue hills, had been ashed four times, and at that time, snow was still falling.

Persons enroute to work in cars, without chains, had a difficult time descending and ascending hills. Many cars skidded, and as a result, some slight damage was caused. Traffic in general was tied up.

FRENCH DENY CHARGES

SAIGON, Indo-China, Nov. 24.—(INS)—Authoritative French sources in Saigon declared today that there is no truth in Chinese Communist charges that French air and ground units had made "provocative invasions" of Chinese territory rfom Indo-China.

The Peiping radio charged yesterday in a broadcast that the French on various occasions violated parts of the sourthern border Provinces of Yunnan, Kwangsi and Kwangtung.

The Chinese Communist transmitter warned at the same time that the French government would be held responsible for any consequences.

Nine Delegates From Red China Arrive In U.S.

To Present Charges Before U.N. Against U.S. Formosa Policy

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The nine-member Chinese Communist delegation from Peiping arrived in New York today and was warmly welcomed by a group of United Nations officials composed chiefly of Soviet bloc representatives and headed by Russia's Jacob Malik.

Gen. Wu Hsiu-Chuan, leader of the delegation, issued a brief statement in Chinese in which he expressed the hope that the group's mission will be helpful "to the peace and security of the Pacific, and in Asia."

Says Peace Is Desire

Gen. Wu said that peace is the desire of the 475,000,000 people of China.

He added that "a profound friendship" has always existed between the Chinese people and the American people, and he conveyed his greetings to "the peace-loving people of the United States."

Wu's delegation came to America to present charges before the United Nations that the United States has been guilty of aggression against China by its naval cordon around Formosa.

The delegation arrived at Idlewild air port at 6:13 o'clock this morning. It included two women—Miss Chou Yen and Miss Kung Pu-Sheng.

After going through customs, the delegation left in United Nations' limousines for the Waldorf-Astoria hotel where they were to be quartered temporarily. They are said to be desirous of going to a smaller hotel.

Statement Made

Wu's statement was translated for newsmen by Pu Shan, Chinese translator. It follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen:

"On the instruction of the Central People's government of the Peoples Republic of China, I am here to attend the meeting of the United Nations Security Council which will discuss the charge of armed aggression against Taiwan (Formosa.)

"I hope that this charge brought by the Central People's government of the Peoples Republic of China will receive just treatment in the security council. If so, it will be helpful to peace and security in the Pacific, and in Asia.

"This is the desire of the Central People's government of the Peoples Republic of China and the 475,000,000 Chinese people.

"Profound friendship has always existed between the Chinese people and the American people. I wish to avail myself of this opportunity to convey my greetings to the peace-loving people of the United States."

While the Chinese Communist delegation has come to discuss the Formosa charge, it is widely expected in United Nations circles that the west will try to make the problem of Chinese intervention in Korea the main item of business.

Troops Advance Along 75-Mile Front In Korea

Hope To Bring War To Conclusion Is Behind Big Action

By IRVING R. LEVINE
(I. N. S. War Correspondent)

SEOUL, Nov. 25. — (Saturday)— American troops, pacing a 100,000-man knockout drive in northwest Korea, reached the enemy's vital anchor base of Chongju Friday night as part of a general Allied advance of up to eight miles.

The offensive was launched along a 75-mile front Friday morning under the personal supervision of Gen. Douglas MacArthur who flew to the scene and voiced the hope the war would end and American soldiers return home by Christmas.

No major resistance by units of an estimated 110,000-man Chinese and North Korean Red army was encountered in the first day of the huge United Nations push toward Manchuria's Yalu river border.

A field dispatch from International News Service War Correspondent Lee Ferrero reported shortly after midnight Friday (10 a.m. EST) that the only opposition of any consequence was offered to the U. S. 25th Division.

These American troops, near the center of the assault line, ran into an enemy force dug in atop Hill 222 below the inland junction city of Unsan. The Reds opened fire with small arms, but the tank-led Americans overwhelmed the enemy group, captured the height and plunged within four miles of Unsan.

Chongju Reached

Chongju, a large rail-highway center controlling two big traffic arteries to the Manchurian frontier 52 miles to the north, was reached by swift-moving troops of the celebrated U. S. 24th Infantry Division.

An armored task force of the division arrived at the edge of the

Tell me of the wreck of the Hesperus, tell me of wrecks of yore, and I'll tell you one of a wreck I saw that pales what you've heard before. I speak of the wreck of the turkey, we had for the Thanksgiving dinner, here was a bird that was young and plump, a genuine seven star winner. But under the edge of the carving knife and the appetites gathered around, when the meal was done, well so was the turk, and there's left little more than a pound. And the frame stands out devoid of meat, we ate quite a bit you say, well neighbor we did I am pleased to relate, and it's 23 today.

the two trains involved in the crash at 6:26 p. m. Wednesday. The dead—and virtually all the injured—were riding on the last car of the first train to leave New York's Pennsylvania station and the first car of the second train.

The second train sheered seat high through the first train, which had halted just short of an overhead block signal, horribly mangling the passengers in the two cars directly involved.

The crash was the worst rail disaster in the history of New York state and the most costly in the nation since 1943.

One man who could have thrown considerable light on the cause of the crash is dead. He was Benjamin Pokorney, 55, engineer of the second train. A railroad official said he had had an unblemished record for the last eight years and had been regarded as one of the best men on the line.

The wreck was the third serious one on the line in nine months. Last Feb. 17, 32 persons were killed and more than 100 injured in a head-on collision at Rockville Centre. In the second wreck at Huntington station 47 passengers were injured.

TROOPS ADVANCE ALONG 75-MILE FRONT

western seaboard city without meeting any resistance throughout the day, A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman announced shortly before midnight.

Comparable gains were scored in all sectors of the front by other units of more than eight divisions of American, British, Australian, Turkish and South Korean troops.

With clockwork precision and careful safeguards to protect their flanks against enemy counterthrusts, the UN columns rolled forward against no appreciable opposition in sub-freezing temperatures.

Hundreds of Air Attacks

Hundreds of American bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters blasted and strafed the enemy's rear and front positions and communications, providing a covering aerial barrage for the UN ground forces.

U. S. Fifth Air Force fighters alone executed 248 sorties, killing or wounding an estimated 400 Communist soldiers and inflicting major damage, including destruction of four enemy tanks.

From the front lines, Correspondent Ferrero reported that all the field generals expressed great satisfaction with the results achieved in the first day of the great push.

Shortly after his return to Tokyo, MacArthur declared in a communique issued at 8 o'clock Friday night (6 a.m. EST) that the all-out push toward Manchuria's border and the Yalu river power plants was moving "according to schedule."

Early Completion Promised

The general promised the "early completion of our mission" in Korea and said that the UN logistics are "fully geared to sustained offensive operations, until final victory is achieved.

With some spearheads jabbing north as much as eight miles, the UN avalanche of troops, tanks and guns registered a general average gain of six miles in the first eight hours of the northwest drive, a U. S. Eighth Army spokesman said.

In this advance, an additional 30 wounded American war prisoners were recovered in an undisclosed sector after they had been released, presumably by Chinese Communist troops. This followed Tuesday's release by the Chinese Reds of 27 captured GI's.

Signs of Retreat

Signs of a Communist retreat from one of several cities being approached by the oncoming UN columns were reported as the big push neared enemy defenses manned by an estimated 110,000 Red troops. The latter include some 60,000 Chinese Communists and 50,000 North Koreans.

A field dispatch reported at 10:14 Friday night (8:14 a.m. EST) that by nightfall U.S. 24th Division vanguards had plunged to within 2,000 yards, or little more than a mile, of the enemy's vital western defense anchor of Congju.

At that hour, the dispatch said, the 24th's battle-seasoned troops still had not made contact with elusive Communist forces.

Near the center of the drive on the northwest front, the U. S. 25th Division's armored "Task Force Dolvin," led by Lt. Col. Welborn Dolvin, pounded forward seven miles through Ipsok to within four miles of the key hub of Unsan.

MORE AMERICAN PRISONERS RELEASED

during the combat and appeared to have been given good treatment.

"The prisoners were recovered during the general Eighth Army advance which began this morning.

"The prisoners had been released at the point of recovery.

"The prisoners were presumably released by Chinese troops.

"Several of the released men were suffering from frostbite but there was no indication that they had been neglected."

An Eighth Army officer pointed out that temperature had been below freezing in the northwest sector for more than 12 hours before the 30 Americans were recovered.

Army officials said no interviews would be permitted with the released men except by authorized military personnel and that location of the point of release would not be revealed.

WEATHER EXTREMES FEATURE IN NATION

the Coliseum's high walls trappped the heat and pushed the mercury past the 100-degree mark.

The intense cold belt curving in a huge crescent from Hudson Bay in Canada through the Dakotas into the lower Ohio valley is expected to move eastward slowly Friday, sending snow flurries and subfreezing temperatures to the Atlantic coast from New York to Virginia.

Wind squalls are expected to buffet the east and southeast late today when the mercury is expected to drop sharply from highs of 20 to 25 degrees.

PLANS TO RETIRE

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—(INS)—Judge Nelson McVicar of the federal district court of western Pennsylvania, has announced his intention to retire on February 1.

The jurist, last Republican member of the court in the Pittsburgh district, said he hopes to continue in an advisory capacity to the court and assume less strenuous duties. He will be 80 years old in January.

Mr. And Mrs. Edward D. Fulkerson Golden Wedding On November 26

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD D. FULKERSON

Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Fulkerson will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday, November 26, with an open house reception to be held at their home, 41 North Beaver street, from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and from 7 to 10 in the evening, when their friends may call to congratulate them upon this happy occasion.

The principals were married in the First Methodist church by Rev. R. F. Randolph on November 26, 1900.

Mr. Fulkerson attended the West Side school and for many years worked for the B. & O. railroad. He is now retired.

Mrs. Fulkerson is the former Florence Smith. She attended the Lincoln-Garfield school, where she was an outstanding student in penmanship. She is an active member of the Salvation Army here in New Castle.

Mr. and Mrs. Flukerson have one son and two daughters living; Ralph of Cochran, Pa.; Mrs. Walter Pilch of this city, and Mrs. Edwin McGowen of East Palestine, O. Two sons, Charles and Sam, and a daughter, Evelyn, are deceased. The couple has seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The children will have a family dinner on Sunday for their parents.

VEDA MAE SNYDER SURPRISED AT PARTY

A floral centerpiece and white candles were a feature of the charming table decorations used at the surprise miscellaneous shower held by Miss Verna Mae McGaffic at her home, Wilmington avenue, in honor of Miss Veda Mae Snyder, November bride-elect.

Guests at the event were Miss Snyder's co-workers at the Pennsylvania Power company, Frew building.

Games were played with prizes being won by Virginia Pierson and Marjorie Logan. Mrs. Elizabeth Pitzer entertained the group with several piano selections.

The honoree opened many attractive gifts, presented to her in a novel manner.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. R. E. McGaffic.

Miss Snyder is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Snyder, Wiley Hill, Ellwood City, while her fiance, Warren Michaels, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Michaels, 706 Bridge street, Ellwood City. Their marriage will take place on Tuesday, November 28, at the bride's home.

DOROTHY DUDA BRIDE OF JOHN DZEMYAN

Slipper satin and lace fashioned the bridal gown worn by Miss Dorothy Duda for her marriage to John Patrick Dzemyan in the St. Michael's church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Duda, 32 South Beaver street, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dzemyan, 27 Balph avenue.

The young couple repeated their wedding vows at 10:30 a. m., October 28, with Rev. Fr. Pikarski officiating. White mums, ferns, and candelabra decorated the church altar for the impressive double ring ceremony.

The lace bodice of the youthful bride's gown was styled with a net yoke at the sweetheart neckline, edged with satin applique. Long sleeves extended to points at the wrists. Lace featured the hoop skirt from the waistline to knee-length, with satin to the floor. An applique design was found between the satin and lace of the skirt. A halo of pearlized orange blossoms caught up her fingertip scalloped veil of French illusion. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls with matching earrings, the groom's gift. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, mums and stephanotis.

Miss Gloria Yerkovich attended the bride as maid of honor, wearing a shrimp colored satin gown, with the fitted bodice enhanced by a mandarin collar and cap sleeves. The same material was draped at the hipline and extended to the back giving a bustle effect. Pretty accents were matching mitts and sweetheart bonnet, and she carried a cascade bouquet of mixed mums.

Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Majeski; Miss Margie Dzemyan, sister of the groom; Miss Dolores Duda, niece of the bride, and Miss Mary Fecko, niece of the groom of Pittsburgh. Green satin gowns were worn by Miss Majeski and Miss Dzemyan, while Miss Duda and Miss Fecko were attired in gold colored satin. The costumes were designed like that of the maid of honor, with each wearing headbands of matching satin with net bows. Cascade bouquets of varied colored mums were carried by the attendants.

Michael Dzemyan served his brother as best man, while George Pastrick; Frank Badurik; Steve Dzemyan, brother of the groom, and Al Fecko, nephew of the groom, ushered.

The church choir sang several appropriate selections at the nuptial high mass.

A wedding breakfast and dinner were held at the Slovok hall, with the reception held at 8 o'clock at the same place, with 350 guests in attendance.

The young couple enjoyed a trip to New York and Washington, D. C., and are now at home in their apartment, 1024 Cunningham avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Dzemyan are graduates of the Shenango high school. The bride is employed as an operator for the local Bell Telephone company, while the groom, a veteran of the army, is affiliated with the Johnson Bronze company.

RUSSIAN VIEW ON OUR ELECTION

It is always interesting to hear the opinion of our neighbors about ourselves and these are not always complimentary. Of course, we could hardly call Soviet Russia a neighbor in the accepted sense of the term but it is worth noting her opinion on our 1950 elections.

Communist newspapers behind the Iron Curtain declared that our election was carried out in an era of the "wildest war hysteria." Furthermore, they sneered at us editorially because not nearly so large a percentage of voters turned out as is customary on election day in totalitarian countries.

So far as the war hysteria charge is concerned, this is empty twaddle as every American who knows anything about politics will tell you that any party which had gone through the late campaign advocating war would have been snowed under so deeply it would have had difficulty in digging out. There was no hysteria, only the excitement which goes along in elections in democratic countries where honest difference of opinion can be expressed.

In Russia and other totalitarian countries there is no hysteria unless it is exhibited along the line of cheering for Joe and his boys in the Kremlin. Stump speeches are not needed. No one can express an opinion unless it is approved at the Kremlin. To do otherwise would be to invite disaster. And as for the voters turning out on election day—if said voters in Russia or an Iron Curtain country do not turn out then it is curtains for them—iron curtains at that. We believe in a heavy vote ourselves—but a free one.

It is, of course, difficult for a machine-made Commie to understand or appreciate a free election. Such a thing couldn't be held in an Iron Curtain country. It simply wouldn't do to let the rest of the world know that anybody inside the national prison doesn't agree 100 per cent with the iron decrees of the bosses.

KOREA WAR MAY LAST THROUGH 1951

Top officials in Washington say privately that the Korean war probably will last through 1951, and possibly for years, unless the Chinese Communists can be persuaded to pull out of Korea.

Actually, they point out that we definitely will be in World War III if we have to fight the Chinese for an indefinite length of time. If we are committed to war in China—declared or undeclared, we will be in a costly world conflict.

On the other hand, if the Chinese Communists drop their intervention in Korea, the Korean war will end within a matter of weeks. The North Koreans are in no position to withstand a United Nations attack without help.

Faced with this dilemma, United States officials are, of course, doing everything possible to avoid full-scale conflict with the China Reds. War or peace for generations rests with the Peiping regime or its Kremlin masters.

EGYPT AND SUEZ

Former colonies which have long struggled for their freedom continue to go through the motions for many years after freedom is assured. This is one of the major facts of today's world and one of Russia's greatest assets. It had a great deal to do with the truculent statement Premier Mustafa Nahas Pasha of Egypt made about the Sudan and the Suez Canal.

Under a treating assuring Egypt's independence, Britain has the right to keep troops in the Suez Canal Zone until 1956, and to share in the administration of the Sudan. Egypt sees this arrangement as a limitation of her sovereignty. Egyptians appear unconcerned whether it also constitutes a safeguard to the country's security. Egypt's present government, moreover, needs a red herring to distract a public dissatisfied with its record.

Britain, of course, will ignore the request. Not only in her position legally correct, but it would be utter folly to withdraw protection from the Suez Canal during a period of extreme international tension.

SETBACK IN GERMANY?

Socialist election victories in two West German states can be interpreted as a blow to U. S. prestige and a defeat for American policy. The fact the Communists took an even greater beating is little consolation.

The plan to create a West German army to help Europe defend itself against Soviet attack was not the only issue in the campaign, but it was the one upon which the socialists put the most stress. It must now be assumed that any remilitarization program will encounter stiff popular resistance in the states of Hesse and Wuerttemberg-Baden.

Without taking an active part in the campaigning, U. S. occupation forces had hoped that the conservative Christian Democratic Party, under the leadership of Chancellor Adenauer, would maintain its command. Adenauer has worked in close cooperation with American authorities and has repeatedly urged the Germans to support the rearmament plan. He and his party have now lost their numerical edge in the Wuerttemberg-Baden Parliament and slipped from second to third place in Hesse.

How all these developments will affect the efforts being made to include Germany in the proposed Western European army is anybody's guess. Those who have been predicting from the beginning that the U. S. would supply the troops see nothing in this newest development to cause them to change their prediction.

The world will soon be run by machines, predicts a scientist. If, of course, it isn't run over by them first.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. OESTREICHER, INS Foreign Director

Italy Seeks Clarification Of Role

A growing demand is being made by Italy today for clarification of her role in defense of western Europe and the government of Premier Alcide De Gasperi is pressing for an exact definition of the American aid that can be expected.

The problem of integrating German military resources with those of the rest of the continent, plus the rearmament of Great Britain and France, have combined to relegate Italian needs to a secondary position.

Many observers feel this may be a mistake because of Italy's enormous strategic position with regard to both Europe and North Africa.

Italy Handicapped

They feel that Italy is being handicapped in post-war recovery by the absence of specific information which would enable the cabinet to gear the Italian economic potential to the needs of defense.

Italy disarmed with great rapidity right after the second world war. By doing so and in replacing Fascism with a truly democratic government that has gone far to eliminate the Communist menace, it earned and early peace treaty that is not considered too onerous as treaties go.

But in reforming its government, battling communism and striving toward economic independence Italy has been compelled to allow her military forces to diminish and whatever equipment she has is old-fashioned if, not obsolete.

Italy has a military appropriation of $512 million for 1951, plus $80 million a year for the next three years, voted for Italy's special contribution to Atlantic defense.

Far From Sufficient

But even though the country is straining its economy to put up this much, it is far from sufficient and the govenment is in a quandary as to how to begin to spend it until the United States makes a specific commitment for Italy in the military field.

There is no question that the Italian peninsula is vital to European defense, and no question as to the quality of the Italian soldier, sailor and airman.

Allied combatants in World War two came to have a very healthy respect for the Italian warrior.

Their pilots were known to the American air force as the trickiest in the world. Their sailors gave a good account of themselves in Mediterranean brushes with the British navy, and so far as ground forses were concerned, their in genuity in laying minefields and building booby traps was an art above and beyond their military ability.

Fail To Understand Delay

The Italians are at a loss to understand delay in setting the machinery of rearmament in motion.

The elemental importance of the Mediterranean in the event of an East-West conflict is apparent and recognized. Thus Italian ports have a significance ranking with Gibraltar and Alexandria.

Italy's strategic position Athwart the inlant sea meant many months of trouble and bitter struggles for the Allies in the second war.

But what were handicaps the last time would be of vast assistance in a new war. This applies not only to the Italian boot but to North Africa as well.

The Italians under Benito Mussolini showed themselves to be excellent colonizers, despite some charges of cruelty. In any case they know the North African terrain better than anyone except the French and showed great skill in deriving the maximum of benefit from inhospitable deserts and sandy soil.

It is for this reason that the Italians feel themselves justified in returning to North Africa even though their future status would be that of trustees rather than masters.

The Italians are ready and anxious to reconstruct a military footing for their own defense as well as that of all Europe. But they cannot do so unless they have American assistance — promptly and generously.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD TEACHER?

The truly great teacher always teaches individual persons no matter how many of them are in her classroom. We parents never should cease to be amazed at how successfully so many teachers do so, and not let ourselves grow too discouraged with the few teachers who are unworthy of their great profession.

As I read the following appreciation by a mother, of a great teacher, I felt it was of a teacher I had when a boy in an ungraded rural school.

"Dear Dr. Myers: As to your request regarding the methods of personal instruction practiced by my fourth grade teacher, I am only too happy to supply the information.

Larger Class

"Although she had a larger class than most of today's teachers who feel themselves woefully overworked, she took enough interest in her work to personally check every child's paper while the paper was being written. As she moved unobstrusively up and down the aisles, she was quick to notice any signs of perplexity or hesitation. Quietly, she would then approach that child, ask the cause of the bewilderment, then explain what was expected.

"If the child sitll failed to grasp not only what but why, he would be asked to stop at the desk during recess. And just in case some aspect of that particular subject were still somewhat vague, she was never too busy to stay after school and go back to fundamentals until she had so linked what was already known to the fact to be learned that it was forever established in your memory.

"And to dispel any idea that this particular teacher was an anomaly, I would like to say she was only one of many, all of whom are still gratefully remembered for their never-failing interest in my development and not mine alone but each and every child under their care.

"I cite this specific instance only to show that numbers alone will not deter the teacher with vision from giving individual attention to all those who are in her class. The aforementioned teacher had a class of 52 which compared to today's average of 40 (in this city) makes the oft-heard plaint 'I can't give each child individual attention, after all I have 39 in my class,' sound like the pitifully weak excuse it is.

"I have been actively engaged in children's work for the past 18 years, as Girl Scout leader, Cub Scout den mother, Sunday school superintendent, Bible school teacher, and playground teacher and it has been my observation that barring physical discomforts (room too hot or cold, chairs too large or small) and outside distractions, most inattention is caused by the teacher presenting the subject in an uninteresting, unimaginative fashion. Children's attention after all is completely involuntary. Therefore it is up to the teacher to devise ways to capture and hold it."

Thanking this mother for her contribution, congratulating her on the wonderful teacher of her childhood, reminding her that there are a good many such teachers today, and wishing there were more of such, I added some statements like the following:

Suited by Training

Not all teachers are suited by training, talents and temperament to do as well even when they try their hardest. Granted that all too many don't try very hard, I'm sure you realize that the average teacher today has too many children in her class for her to do her best by them; that, moreover, some children could be more attentive and cooperative at school if they had better home upbringing.

I believe we parents should be grateful for such teachers as you had and that we should influence our communities to demand more such teachers. We also should do our very best at home with our children to help them get most while at school. You also will agree with me that the same principles obtain in the fine character-building organizations which you have served so unselfishly and devotedly.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan

Thursday was the day we tabled all our beefing and gave thanks at the table for all our blessings.

And it is right that one day a year we should sum up all the good things that have come to us. We have 364 days to audit the others and pad the grievance balance.

The Puritans were a little more devout in their observance of Thanksgiving day but when you look at the front pages today, think of all the things they had to be thankful for!

It's true you couldn't pop a turkey in the oven and set a dial but you didn't have to know how to spell Hyesanjin, wonder where Yugoslavia stood and for how long, or ponder how to buy a bathtub and stay solvent.

These things would have confused the Puritans. They were such simple people that when they gave thanks for the year's harvest they didn't even include next year's demands.

But any man who wanted to take a real look inside himself could surely find something for which to be thankful. . . And it's good practice any day.

Bible Thought

And they shall call his name Emmanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us.—Matt. 1:23.

We need bifocals of faith. We need both the near and far view if we are to see clearly the task for our times.—Bishop Richard C. Raines.

From Me To You

By MESEEALL

Perhaps it's all in how you look at it . . . picking Thanksgiving Day as your wedding day . . . Some people would think it rather a silly idea to use such a day . . . while others (men) would probably say that it's a good day, you remember the date (which the little woman always says men forget) and then you can be thankful that Thanksgiving only comes once a year.

How did you spend your day of thanksgiving . . . did you give the day any serious thought . . . you really should have . . . for you who are reading this have a great deal to be thankful for. Almost without exception you all had enough to eat . . . in a nice warm house . . . with your friends and some of your relations (you can always pick your friends).

Not all of our citizens, however, faired so well . . . It's cold in North Korea . . . mighty cold . . . and there are not warm houses and old friends to sit around with and shoot the bull . . . And those dusty old uniforms are not like a sport jacket and easy slippers are just dreams. But those lads are doing a job so that these things we are and did enjoy could be a steady diet for us and them when it's all over . . . But many times we all forget how our comforts were made possible.

* * *

Sure, you are saying . . . "I pay my bills and I buy what I want and therefore I make or break the comforts that I enjoy" . . . BUT you are wrong, very wrong . . . you forget that you couldn't have earned that money if FREEDOMS such as we Americans enjoy had been lost. Capitalists . . . we all are . . . everyone who owns anything or keeps money in a bank or investment or in a sock . . . We are free Americans because that's the way we want to be . . . BUT we can change our tune . . . not because we want to but because we will be told to . . . if we don't remember our privileges and how they were gained. What lies at the feet of the Statue of Liberty? . . . Answer: the broken chains of tyranny.

FLAG OF TRUCE?

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

May Be Unhappy Repercussions

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—When it comes time to select the new Republican member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, the GOP leaders in the Senate will have to make a choice that can have unhappy repercussions. It is a prize sought by several ambitious men and with the prize goes a voice in a forum heard around the world.

Recent news stories have represented the choice as being between Senator William F. Knowland of California and Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon. This is on the theory that since the west coast is not represented on the committee, a seat should go to that great and swiftly growing region with its vital interest in Asia. On the basis of seniority, the seat must go to Morse, who has served in the Senate nine months longer than Knowland.

Violate Fundamental Rule

To break the seniority rule, as Republican bigwigs well know, is to violate a fundamental rule of party conduct. Moreover, in this instance it would serve as a proclamation that the GOP put obstructionism in foreign policy ahead of the sacrosanct seniority rule.

Such a move would bring fireworks from Morse who is one of the most articulate men in the Senate. But it would place on the committee a spokesman for the cause of Nationalist China. Knowland, now visiting Formosa and Japan, would speak for the Asian policy of his great hero, General MacArthur.

This is the goal of leading Republicans such as Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire. Others, however, see the danger in precipitating this break, particularly in view of the letter sent to Morse by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, who advised the Oregonian that the time had come to collect on his "I.O.U." for a foreign relations seat.

Compromise May Prevail

They are liktly to prevail with a compromise. Under that compromise neither Morse nor Knowland would get the coveted seat. Instead, it will go to a Republican Senator with seniority outranking both Knowland and Morse.

Morse would then have no grievance. He could merely observe that once again the west coast had been ignored. Even this could be obviated if Morse's colleague from Oregon, Senator Guy Cordon, would agree to fill the vacancy. But Cordon would probably hesitate since such a maneuver would obviously be aimed at blocking Morse.

There is no doubt that a great many rich and powerful Republicans, who hate Morse more than do any Democrat except possibly President Truman, are out to block him. In the Republican primary contest in the spring, eastern Republicans sent generous contributions to Morse's opponent, Dave Hoover, a hitherto unknown dairy farmer. Among the contributors were Ernest T. Weir of Pittsburgh, chairman of the National Steel Corp., Frederick C. Crawford, of Cleveland, former president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and Charles E. Merrill of New York, head of the brokerage firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane.

Delivered Radio Attack

Defeated in the primary, Hoover came out for Howard Latourette, the Democrat running against Morse. On the night before the election Hoover delivered a radio attack against Morse concluding:

"The choice tomorrow is between a great Jeffersonian Democrat and this self-appointed superman who wears red underwear."

The attack is believed to have helped Morse, who got just under 75 percent of the total vote. While the foreign policy issues may have been blurred in other states, Morse sought to make it unmistakingably clear in Oregon. He told audience after audience that he did not want a single isolationist vote, adding, "all the isolationist has to sell you is a war to be fought in a few years in which America will be without allies."

Colleagues Riled

Many of Morse's colleagues were

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE OLD BASEBURNER

There was a stove we fed with coal,
Windowed with little mica squares
Adorned with many a metal scroll,
Nearby were dad's and mother's chairs.
That stove gave out, it seems to me,
A warmth we could both feel and see.

It had a rail around its base,
Where coming from the snow-lined street
Contentment, stamped upon his face,
My father used to warm his feet,
And always at the close of day:
"It's good to be at home," he'd say.

Such stoves to furnace gave way.
Their little windows glowed no more.
We'd bartered charm and space I'd say
When registers broke every floor.
We drew the warmth from fire below,
But lost its cheery, friendly glow.

I do not view with grim alarm
The modern methods that we learn
Nor to that old baseburner's charm
When winter comes would I return.
But it was pleasant, I repeat,
To watch my father "warm his feet."

They Say

TAMPA, Fla.—Former Democratic national chairman James A. Farley: "The Brannan plan, socialized medicine and other unsubstantial experiments won no honors in this election."

TRENTON, N. J.—Republican national chairman Guy Gabrielson: "The 80th congress was one of the best congresses we ever had, but we failed to sell it and its fine work in 1948 to the people."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Ferguson (R) Mich.: "I am not so sure they (Yugoslav communists) have repented shooting down our people. I am always moved by the idea of feeding people—those who can't obtain food. But it's also important that people get liberty and freedom as well as food."

NEW YORK—Chancellor Robert Hutchinson of the University of Chicago: "Professors are the only people in the world whose sole duty it is to think."

State Police Say:

There are, on the average, 12 regulatory and/or warning signs for every mile of improved highway in Pennsylvania. These signs are not scattered promiscuously along the highways to impede the movement of traffic, but are erected for the safety, convenience and guidance of yourself and every other motorist. It is part of common sense driving to keep in mind that these signs, and the law, apply to you, no matter how good a driver you think you are.

The 80th And 82nd

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.—Not quite gone and still less forgotten will be the much-abused 80th Congress when the 82nd Congress assembles next January 5th.

Social introductions may be in order around the Senate where some new faces appear—Butler, Bennett, Welker, Smith, Case—but over on the House side it'll often be: "Hello, Mr. Congressman. Haven't we met here before?"

More than politeness lurks in this question. The 82nd House suggests that the big 41-million electorate of last November 7th was experiencing a sober second thought concerning the recent past. About one out of every six of the newly-elected Representatives have been in the House before. That isn't important unless you read close to the page. But it becomes important when you discover that a goodly number of the returnees are ex-casualties of the Truman-hated 80th Congress which was scattered to the winds just two years ago.

Some Of Those Returning

Among the names that will be back in the Congressional Record after a two-year lapse are Fred E. Bushby and Richard B. Vail of Illinois, Horace Seely-Brown of Connecticut and George E. Bender of Ohio. There are others, but these are some outstanding reasons why the President called the 80th the "worst" Congress within memory. It appears that the country no longer shares that Tru Deal opinion. A good example is the come-back of B. Carroll Reece, former Republican National Chairman, who reappears in Congress after a two-term absence and a defeat for the Senate in '48.

Conversely, the voters removed from office a number of Representatives who triumphed in '48 and earnestly followed the Tru Deal during the 81st Congress. Outstanding among the rejectees are Andrew J. Biemiller of Wisconsin who wrote the House bill for socialized medicine, Andrew Jacobs of Indiana who sang the "slave law" dirge so loudly during debates on the Taft-Hartley Act and Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse on whom we'll take the advice of Hamlet's father and "leave her to heaven."

Some Others Are Defeated

But having opened the subject, let's pursue it. Two other Representatives of note won in '48 and lost in '50. They are Helen Gahagan Douglas and John Carroll, who went down in the Senate races of California and Colorado. To broaden the scope a bit, why not include those ministers of the Welfare State who rode high in the 81st Congress and were trampled down in the choosing of the 82nd? There's Secretary Brannan of Agriculture whose Brannan plan took such a beating everywhere. And Federal Security Administrator Ewing, the socialized medicine man, whose plan was opposed by doctors and dentists and voted down by their patients wherever it became an issue. Perhaps it's stretching things a bit to include Secretary of Labor Tobin whose department was dedicated in vain to the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. And we can pass over Secretary Chapman of Interior whose department was supposed to put the Federal government into the steel business. The point is—and it's well buttressed—that the "mood" of the 82nd Congress may be very similar to that of the 80th.

Need Not Call For Apology

This need not call for any apology. In 1948 Candidate Truman got away with berating the 80th Congress mainly because Candidate Dewey allowed him to do so. The national legislature of 1947-48, let's remember, gave us the Marshall plan and the Truman Doctrine. These same law-makers reduced taxes, cut subsidies, repealed the Wagner Act and began the search for subversives which directly led to the conviction of Alger Hiss and which indirectly led to the conviction of the 11 Communist leaders before Judge Medina.

Any estimate of the 82nd Congress has to be made with the 80th Congress in mind. The Marshall plan and the Truman Doctrine of arming Communist-threatened nations were passed then. They properly come up for review before a like-minded legislature in January. Farm subsidies, labor relations and spy-hunting present themselves for a second discussion by the law-makers who inaugurated a postwar appraisal of these matters. Many of the Republican leaders of two years ago are still around. Taft and Vandenberg remain in the Senate. Mundt, Nixon, Dirksen, Mrs. Smith and Smathers have moved from House to Senate. Joe Martin, Charles Halleck and Clarence Brown of the 80th House are still there. If they are older, sadder and wiser persons, so much the better.

Many Were Undeliverable

If we consider the 82nd a "reform" Congress, as the 80th attempted to be, the new lawmakers have one distinct advantage. They are a minority party, at least on paper, as all reform parties ought to be. In 1947 the incoming Congress was expected to accomplish miracles of postwar recovery—lower prices, fewer shortages and a guarantee of peace in our time. These proved to be undeliverable, and Mr. Truman dramatically laid the blame on the Congressional majority. But in 1951 the new Congress, a nominal minority, will not be on the same spot. It will have a chance to make reforms without being required to accomplish miracles. Mr. Truman, who sold himself as a miracle man two years ago, still has two years to prove it. And by 1952 the adjective "worst" will be an old shoe for the foot that best fits it.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

We all know, of course, that the earth is round, that it is a globe.

But I certainly had a tough time trying to prove that established scientific fact to an eight-year-old boy who asked me so many pertinent and impertinent questions that I am beginning to wonder.

For instance, he insisted that when we are on the bottom of the globe at certain times, we would naturally stand upside down.

How do we stay fastened to the ground?

Are our feet magnets that hold us on?

If not, why don't we fall off?

And if we do "where do we fall to?" as he expressed it.

I gave him all sorts of explanations as I remembered them from my school days.

I also gave him a comic book—I always keep a few on hand for just such occasions—hoping that it would distract his attention.

As he left, I asked him, "Now do you believe that the earth is a globe?"

"Naw," he replied, "and neither do you."

That kid made me think.

At the present moment we KNOW that the earth is round.

A few hundred years ago we KNEW that it was flat.

A few hundred years ago anybody who would have claimed that you could see and hear the President of the United States, or wrestling matches or prize fights or the Metropolitan Opera on a television set from many miles away, would have been sent to a lunatic asylum.

As a matter of fact, anybody who would have predicted such a phenomenon as a United States of America would have been considered crazy.

In those days FREEDOM was not even a dream.

So, how de we know what the earth will be KNOWN to be in another few hundred years from now?

Round? Flat? Square? Or will there be any earth at all?

Every once in a while it seems to me that this earth of ours is a great big circle.

Smack in the middle of that circle I sit—or if you agree—it's YOU who sit in the middle.

From ME (or YOU) emanate the radii of the circle, and every radius goes out to some event, some happening, which affects ME (or YOU) personally.

The length of each radius is determined by my mental capacity (or yours, as the case may be).

The wider our interests, the longer the radii, the bigger the circle.

Take a mother whose interests never went beyond her own family. Then one of her boys is drafted and sent to Korea.

At once her little earth becomes a great, big earth.

Suddenly she realizes that there is a wider world beyond. She becomes interested in geography, in the United Nations, in world affairs.

Is the earth round? I don't know. But I DO know that it is mighty elastic—that it stretches or shrinks according to our personal horizons.

What matters its shape? The most important thing is the EXTENT of your horizon.

No Pork Chops For Six Tramps

Judge Suggests They Get Going

No time was meted out to six tramps by Judge John G. Lamoree Wednesday morning but his sentence was a rather tough one for the six.

Judge Lamoree placed them upon probation for one year and suggested they "get in front of a north wind going south."

The tough part of the sentence is they missed the Thanksgiving dinner Jail Matron Mrs. Frank L. Coen prepared for the prisoners in the jail.

No turkey was served but a lot of folks are not so crazy about turkey anyway. The menu called for stuffed pork chops, candied sweet potatoes, pumpkin pie, bread and butter and coffee. Such a dinner in a hotel or restaurant would set you back about three bucks per copy.

The tramps got on their way before noon. Whether or not they left town is a question but there was no question about their dinner in the county jail.

JAIL LISTED "FAIR"

Lawrence County's jail is listed as "fair" by the Pensylvania Department of Welfare. Of the 68 prisoners in the commonwealth only 20 were listed good, the balance were either fair or poor.

Other counties in this district listed as fair were Beaver, Butler, Mercer, Allegheny, Crawford, Erie, Venango, Warren, and Indiana. Counties listed as poor were Bedford, Cameron, Centre, Clinton, Fulton, Greene, Potter, Sullivan, and Westmoreland.

What the specifications are for a "good" jail are not set out. Lawrence County's jail is clean, it is warm in cold weather, it is substantial. There are no chaise lounges, sunken gardens, or Roman baths in it. The room service is not equal to that of a modern hotel, and the cutlery is not sterling silver. But if what is required is a decent place in which to lodge violators of the law, Lawrence County has it. And it is listed as just fair.

TEN SENTENCES

Ten were sentenced Wednesday morning by Judge John G. Lamoree of which six were those mentioned at the head of this column. They were D. O. Bolton, Wyandotte, Mich.; Michael Hudak, Duquesne; Barton Brown, James A. Carr, Edward Hanley, address unknown; and Homer Hanley, of Ligonier, Pa.

Others sentenced were George Guy Simmons, carrying a revolver illegally, costs of the case. Arthur Johnson, Albert Powell, Jr., and Anthony Lostracio, all charged with driving while intoxicated. Each was fined $100 and costs and 30 days in the county jail. Out in three days if the fines and costs are paid.

WASHINGTON CALLING

riled by his speech before the A. F. of L. convention in Houston, Texas, in September. In that speech he denounced as "political hypocrisy" the George-Millikin amendment postponing a decision on an excess profits law. He went on to say that the voters have a chance to pass on those responsible for this move.

Some G O Pers took this as an invitation to labor to defeat Senator Eugene Millikin in Colorado. Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska wrote Morse a savage letter of denunciation. Butler is one of those who will decide on how the foreign relations vacancy is to be filled.

The present mood of the Republican leadership is to avoid stirring up the animals (this does not apply, of course, to Democrats who are to goaded on every occasion). A relatively painless compromise looks, therefore, like the way out of an intra-party scrap.

Folks Of Fame

This critic and humorist, Will Cuppy, born in Auburn, Ind., Aug. 23, 1884, served as a second lieutenant in the United States army in World War I. Following are a list of his books: "How To Be A Hermit," "How To Tell Your Friends From the Apes," "How To Become Extinct," "The Great Bustard," "Murder Without Tears" and "The Decline and Fall of Everybody." He also wrote a column of book reviews for a New York newspaper. He died in New York City Sept. 19, 1949.

This very famous violinist, Ole Bull, was born in Bergen, Norway, Feb. 5, 1810. It was intended that he study theology, but instead he gave his time to music and politics. He played at many concerts and then, hearing Nicolo Paganini play in Paris, he worked hard to rival him. Although largely self-taught, he acquired a marvelous technique and achieved world fame. His first visit to the United States lasted from 1843 to 1845, and his second from 1852-1857. During this second visit he bought some land in Pennsylvania intending to found a Norwegian colony to be named for his family. The title proved faulty and the troubles ensuing affected his health. He deid in Lyso, near Bergen, Norway, on Aug. 17, 1880.

The first public road in the state of Idaho was Main street in Florence, now a ghost town.

Police Dance Huge Success

Annual ball, the 31st of its kind, held by the Fraternal Order of Police last night in the Cathedral, was a huge success. According to veteran members of the police force, the crowd was as large, if not larger, than any dance yet held by the police. Dancing was in vogue from nine p. m. to one a. m. A floor show was staged and many awards to patrons made. A famous orchestra provided the music. C. F. Suber was general chairman of the affair.

Churches Filled For Thanksgiving Program Thursday

Well filled churches were observed on Thanksgiving morning and Wednesday evening as residents attended traditional Thanksgiving services planned by the New Castle Ministerial Association in the city and surrounding communities.

Ten services of a union nature were conducted in the local district, while a number of individual services took place as residents offered thanks for the blessings of the past year.

First Christian church was thronged with an appreciative audience of 300 who heard an inspiring Thanksgiving address by Dr. A. C. Schultz, pastor of First Methodist church.

First Congregational church was filled to capacity for its service addressed by Rev. Paul Aley on Thanksgiving morning. A good offering was received for the chaplaincy work of the ministerium.

Services in other churches where union efforts took place were equally well attended, with excellent offerings received for the chaplaincy work. Services were also held at Mahoningtown Presbyteritan, Wesley Methodist, Primitive Methodist, Harmony Baptist, First U. P., Second U. P., St. Paul's Lutheran and Croton Methodist churches.

Are You Getting
ALL THE FUN OUT OF LIFE?
Or losing out due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin!

Tired, run-down, below par, getting up each morning dreading the coming day, due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin? Thousands like Mrs. Clemons, are relieving the real cause of their trouble, due to such deficiencies, with today's great Hadacol.

Mrs. Lealer Clemons, Route 3, Box 169, Williamston, N.C. says: "Before I had taken any Hadacol or had heard of it, no one could have told me that I would be able to work again or take on household duties. I was suffering from aches and pains. I also was unable to attend my church and visit friends because I was always tired and in a run-down condition. But since I have taken several bottles of Hadacol, I can tell you the truth, I am much livelier, my aching has all gone. I can get up early and start on my household duties. Now, I can attend church and feel better. I only wish I had discovered it a year ago. I will certainly pass this on to my friends because I'm proud to be happy again and be a user of Hadacol."

Trial size bottle, $1.25; family or hospital size, $3.50. Only Hadacol gives you that "Wonderful Hadacol Feeling!"

Explosion Wrecks Gas Line Section Near Norristown

NORPISTOWN, Pa., Nov. 24.—(INS)—Nearly a mile-long section of the huge natural gas pipeline running from Texas to New York was ripped up by an explosion yesterday near Audubon, Montgomery county, halfway between Norristown and Phoenixville.

The blast sent flames 300 feet high and withered grass and trees. The blast occurred on the farm of Peter Camiel, who said later that he could not estimate the damage to his place.

Camiel's brothers, Edwin, 27, and Joseph, 21, were slightly injured when the explosion tossed them into the air, although they were 500 yards from the pipeline. Windows were shattered in distant homes, but there were no reports of others injured.

Polic and firemen said they had been told to stand by for trouble by representatives of the Transcontinental Gas Pipeline, its owner. A pressure test was begun Tuesday.

The damaged section is part of the 1,500-mile line being built by the Transcontinental company of Houston, Tex., to deliver natural gas to the East.

Paul F. Henkle, 60, of Turtle Creek, died of a skull fracture after he was struck by an automobile which police said was driven by Joseph J. Kasmer of Cleveland.

In a serious condition at the Mercy hospital in Pittsburgh is Mrs. Pearl Williams, 37, of Washington, Pa. She was injured when the automobile in which she was riding was struck by another car in a collision in Pittsburgh.

Twenty other persons suffered minor hurts in various other holiday traffic mishaps.

Typewriter for Junior?

A typewriter for Junior? What an absurd idea that would seem to be to most of us. Yet, let's look at it a bit more closely.

Several modern schools have placed typewriters in the classrooms of even young children—first and second-graders. Observation and study have shown that the use of the typewriter helps with spelling and also encourages the youngsters to express their ideas much more freely in writing on the typewriter than by handwriting.

Today in high schools and colleges more and more students are using typewriters. The youngster who has picked up typing or who has had lessons usually does a much better written assignment. And it is better not just in appearance but in quality.

Of course, typewriters still are a bit expensive. But a little shopping around may lead you to find a good secondhand one. And, unless your children are different than most, they'll make good use of it.

Mrs. Celia Tonacliff, who has been hunting since she was 12, made this year's hunting expedition with her son-in-law and a grandson.

The trio was stationed at a Fife lake vantage point when the two men suddenly decided to look for a "better" place. Mrs. Tonacliff refused to move and a few minutes later brought down a buck. The two men are still looking for their deer.

LEAVING TABLE DINNER

Question? Who takes the initiative in leaving the table when dinner is over? Is it permissible to leave the table during a dinner party?

Answer: The hostess, seeing that everyone has finished, should rise first. The guests then follow her. The women should proceed and the men follow or remain at the table for a while if they so desire. Never leave the table at a dinner party unless it is absolutely necessary. In this latter case, excuse yourself to your hostess. The men, of course, should rise when a woman leaves the table. When she returns, they should rise again, the one nearest her place holding her chair for her if there is no servant present to assist her.

Question: I go with a boy from a distant town. His sister is coming to visit me. Would it be proper for me to invite her to say at my home when she comes (I have never met her) or do you think she should stay at a hotel?

Answer: It would be very thoughtful of you to invite her to stay with you. Doubtless both she and her brother would be very appreciative.

Question: Should personal cards with "sympathy" written on them and sent to the bereaved family be acknowledged?

Answer: Indeed, yes, personal cards bearing this message should be acknowledged in the same manner as are letters of condolence—by written note. If you have a great number of these messages to acknowledge, you might, if you wish, send, instead your own personal visiting card with "thank you for your kind sympathy" written across the top.

Question: Are canapes eaten with fingers or forks?

Answer: It is perfectly correct to eat canapes with the fingers at an afternoon tea or a cocktail party, but knives and forks must be used when they are served at the table during a meal.

Weather Delays Formal Opening Of Butler Road

Opening of the New Castle-Butler road, Route 422, which was scheduled for next Monday morning, will of necessity be postponed again due to weather conditions, Alfred A. Martin, county highway superintendent reported at 11 a.m. today.

Officials of the V. N. Holderman company of Columbus, Ohio, who have the contract for the road, reported that about three days work would be necessary to ready the eastern approach to the highway at the city line near the Blair Strip Steel Company and until such time that work is finished, the highway will not be opened to traffic.

Although the delay is unavoidable and disappointing to the motoring public which has been detouring via Ellwood City and Portersville, Mr. Martin asked the public to be patient and if weather conditions break the work will be rushed along so that the important traffic route can be opened to public travel.

The road was to have opened to Rose Point where motorists would detour around the new bridge built along the road and complete their journey on the new highway to Route 19.

The public will be informed as to when a new opening date is scheduled for the route.

The delay on Route 422 will not affect the opening of Route 108, the New Castle- Harlansburg road. This traffic route will open as scheduled next Monday morning. Caution will have to be used, though, as berms and guard rail work is not complete on this road.

Plan Homecoming At Drake Church

Drake Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance at No. 2 Mine, will have a 10-day homecoming program in progress starting this evening at 7:30 o'clock and continuing until December 3, the pastor, Rev. H. A. Polding announces.

This evening, the church will be host to members of the Mercer County youth rally. The host church will provide special music and Rev. F. Russell Schillinger, of Greenville, formerly of New Castle, will speak.

Sunday is being observed a National Youth Day in all Alliance churches. The pastor will give a message on youth at 11 a.m. and at 7:45 p.m. the Young People will take part in the program.

Beginning Monday evening at 7:30 and each evening of the week the church will be celebrating 20 years with a Home-Coming and Home-Convention Week. The speakers in order will be Rev. C. T. Bookamer of Irvona, Pa., former pastor; Mr. Harry Mack who did the pioneering of the work; Rev. George Jones of New Castle; Rev. D. C. Kopp, District Superintendent. Special music will be a feature in that those of yester years will be singing, and Avery Rigby, baritone soloist.

Saturday night is "Old-Timers Night;" and a mass meeting will be held Sunday December 3, at 2:30.

Holiday Street Lighting Will Start Tonight

The lights go on again tonight.

Christmas lights in the downtown section and with the turning on of the lights, the Christmas shopping season is formally opened.

This year the merchants are starting their Christmas shopping period earlier than usual in order that shoppers may be enabled to get their buying done early when the stocks are fresh.

Each Friday night thereafter the downtown stores will be open until nine o'clock, according to William Berkstresser, president of th Merchants' Division of the Greater New Castle Association.

There will be two nights a week when the stores are open through December 22. The usual Monday night and each Friday night during that period.

Counting tonight there will be five Friday nights when the downtown stores will be open for Christmas shopping and four Monday nights.

This year the merchants are making it possible to "do your Christmas shopping early."

And tonight, marking the beginning of the Christmas shopping season the decorative lights strung across Washington street will be turned on.

THE STEWARDSHIP OF MONEY

HONOR GOD WITH THY SUBSTANCE AND THY INCREASE

The widow's mite.

"Let each man do according as he hath purposed in his heart: not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver."
—II Corinthians 9:7.

Scripture—Psalm 50:10-12; Proverbs 3:5-9; Mark 12:38-44; I Corinthians 16:1-5; II Corinthians 9:1-8; Philippians 4:10-20.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

Church finances are always a serious matter. Few indeed are the congregations so wealthy and generous with their money that there are no money troubles.

The old Jewish law made a man set aside a certain part of his income for the temple, and as his means increased, so was the size of his contribution supposed to.

There is no such law in our land today. Each member of his particular church gives according to his means or inclination. Some poor give more generously in proportion to their means than do rich folk according to theirs.

The Psalmist reminds us that God created all things and bestows blessings on us all, and in Proverbs we read: "Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase."

Jesus illustrated what type of gift would best please God when He sat on the steps (probably of the temple in Jerusalem to watch the people drop their money into one of the trumpet-shaped metal receptacles placed in the court of the women to receive the temple gifts. It is said to have been a custom for people to loiter there to watch proceedings.

Many rich people dropped their generous gifts into the receptacle. Then, as Jesus watched, there approached a poorly-dressed woman —evidently a widow—and into the container she dropped a very small coin—a mite. It may have been worth one-fourth of a cent, but it was all she had.

Jesus gathered His disciples about Him and said, "Verily I say unto you, this poor widow cast in more than all they that are casting into the treasury: for they all did cast in of their superfluity; but she of her want did cast in all that she had, even all her living."

You know how it is with your own friends. You appreciate a lovely gift from a person who can well afford something expensive; but you do have a special feeling for the present from a child or from a poor neighbor, or the woman who does your laundry to make a living for her children. Or the man who does odd jobs to make a living.

Their gifts may be simple—something made by them in spare moments, possibly—but you know it represents affection and gratitude.

Generous giving, according to your means, will have its reward, too, according to St. Paul, in a letter to the Corinthians.

"But this I say, he that soweth sparingly shall reap sparingly; and he that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully. Let each man do according as he hath purposed in his heart: not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver."

Few of those early Christians were wealthy, but they were generous. They collected money to send to Jerusalem, which was crowded with people, many of whom were in need.

They also thougnt of Paul, and saw that he was taken care of. To the Philippians he wrote: "But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care of me hath flourished again; wherein ye were also careful, but ye lacked opportunity."

He thanked them for their gifts, but also explained his understanding of the fact that they had always been willing and eager to provide for him, but had no opportunity to do so.

It is a fine thing for all of us who belong to a church to stop and think of all we receive from our worship—in comfort in sorrow; of sympathy and understanding; in spiritual uplift, in friendship.

Then consider whether we are giving as much as we should in return. We may not be able to give much money or time, but we can give ourselves—our loyalty, a friendly, helpful spirit and cooperation in the church's work. Like the widow and her mite—it will please the Lord who made us all.

Hospital Auxiliary Completing Plans For Annual Dinner

Chairman of the various committees in charge of the spaghetti dinner, which is being sponsored by the New Castle Hospital Auxiliary, met at the nurses' home to make their reports on the progress of this affair, Mrs. Paul Forcey, general chairman, presided at the meeting.

Each year the hospital auxiliary sponsors a spaghetti dinner as one of their expansion fund projects. Mrs. Rose Fazzone is chairman of the dinner arrangements and her staff of expert cooks prepare this popular dish in true Italian style. The date for this year's dinner is November 30 in the Cathedral dining rooms.

Mrs. Jessie Stenger is chairman of the dining room committee, and Mrs. Mayme Rocks is chairman of the ticket committee. Mrs. Rocks' report on the ticket sales indicates a large attendance. Mrs. J. J. McCarthy will be in charge of the hospital gift shop display.

Several Deer Hit By Autos

Thanksgiving day was a bad day for does and bucks, several having been killed by autos and a big buck was also hit by a car but apparently was not injured, according to reports.

One doe was struck and killed between New Castle and the Y at the Wilmington-Sharon road.

A buck which apparently was with the doe ran across the road several times and was struck by a car driven by Ed Fee. The buck was turned over several times but arose and bounded away.

A button buck was struck near Sarko's place on new route 422, and it being in agony, Robert Stewart, truant officer, dispatched it with a hammer.

A doe was also said to have been struck and killed near the junction of old route 422 and 551.

Previous to yesterday, two deer were killed this week, a six-point buck on the Ellwood City highway and a doe in Mahoning township, according to Cal Hooper, game protector, who gave the deer to various institutions.

Babson Discusses Problem Of Building Home Now

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1950—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

NEW BOSTON, N. H., Nov. 24.—Although I have written about housing more than once recently, a number of readers are asking me to tell them specifically what I think about building of new homes now in view of the recent Federal Reserve cut back of credit privileges.

Don't Let High Prices Scare You

Readers are writing me that they would like to build a home; but they are not large wage earners and prices are so high that they are afraid to act. My answer to these people is that it is O. K. to build now if you want a home to live in (not to rent). Also, if you can pay at least one-quarter down with a 15-year payment plan on the balance even although it does cost a lot to build a new home today with present high prices of building materials and labor.

Roger W. Babson

Prices of labor and most materials, however, are not going to come down very soon. Those who decide to postpone building their new home until prices readjust themselves to something like prewar values, will be obliged to wait a long time. This is a growing country whose population and economy have expanded mightily in the last ten years. So long as it continues to grow and so long as our living standards advance, we cannot expect a return to the lower price level of years gone by. Let us look ahead rather than backward and not be afraid to invest in the future of America.

This Is No Time To Build Rental Units

Note that I advise building now only if you want a home to live in. I do not believe it is wise to build homes to rent at this time. Even if we avert another global war, the change-over to an economy providing for increased defense planning and spending will have a considerable effect upon construction and real estate. Thus, it appears that rent controls are here to stay for awhile longer and may even be tightened in some strategic areas. Certainly, events since June 25 clearly indicate that substantial relaxation of these rent controls is now unlikely, and sharper restrictions may be invoked if the war should spread.

There, however, are exceptions to every rule and, while I do not advocate building homes for rent now, a person may be justified in building now a two-family house with the intention of living in one half and renting the other half. In fact, I have just completed a two-family house here at New Boston with that idea in mind. Be sure there are separate heating systems and that the water and electricity are on separate meters. Have two modern kitchens and two bathrooms.

Be Realistic in Choosing Location

Those who plan to build new homes should select the land as carefully as the materials. If possible, have enough good land for a "kitchen garden". Do not build in or near the big cities mentioned in the new book "Effects of Atomic Weapons", reviewed in the August 21 issue of Time Magazine. The book itself can be bought for $1.25 from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C. For three years I have warned of the danger of living in these cities.

As this danger becomes more acute, more and more people will try to move their residences from these bomb-vulnerable cities, thus adversely affecting real estate values in those cities and raising values in rural sections. High taxes also make it wise to avoid the larger cities as locations for new homes. Best bets for new homes today are cities under 50,000 population with preference to the smaller towns and rural areas. The smaller the community, the better your chance for clean, healthy living in the American tradition.

Build a Practical Home

I advise readers who hrave never built before to do some carefully planning before spending their hard-earned cash. Do not be carried away by impatient contractors, but insist upon a fixed contract price—avoiding "cost plus". Know what you want and make sure you will get it before you commit yourself. Aim for a home that will be structurally sound as well as pleasing in appearance. Think of the future before you build. A four-room cottage with doll-sized rooms may look like a dream house now, but it will turn out to be an awful headache if you try to raise a family in it. Nor will it have anywhere near as high a resale value as a more orthodox unit with adequate living space.

Says College Faces Need Of Support

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Nov. 24—(INS) — Seventy-five-year-old Juniata College is face to face with what President Calvert N. Ellis calls a "real crisis" because of decreased enrollments and higher operating costs.

In a letter to alumni and friends appealing for "voluntary support" of the college's postwar development program, Ellis pointed out that many another privately-endowed school faces the same problem.

In 1944, Ellis said in a report on the program's progress, a postwar fund goal of $1,000,000 was fixed. So far, $550,495 has been contributed.

Declines in the postwar and alumni funds must be halted by contributions, he said, if the college program is to be carried out successfully.

The college also reported that veteran enrollment for the 1950 fall term embraces only 15.2 per cent of the student body compared with 39.7 per cent in 1947.

Rose Avenue P.T.A. Executives Meet

Members of the Executive committee of the Rose Avenue Parent-Teachers' association met in the school library with president, Mrs. Thomas Booher, conducting business.

Mrs. Roy Mumford, membership chairman, reported there are 366 persons enrolled as members in the P.T.A., with the school working toward 100 per cent membership.

There was a discussion on legislative program, with a vote to be taken of the unit to express their opinion on the program of legislation of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. A chairman will be appointed to keep members informed on current legislation. Duties of the chairman will be to stress how important it is for every citizen to participate in his government by voting both in the local and national elections.

The program books that were not distributed in October due to the auction will be given out this next meeting of November 28. These books outline the programs of the P.T.A. for the year. The coming meeting will be in observance of American Education week, with Dr. Joseph McClymonds of Slippery Rock college to speak on "Advances in Educational Methods." There will also be selections by the Rose avenue chorus.

Instead of the regular meeting for December, the P.T.A. is sponsoring a Christmas party for the school. Mothers will be aides, with a tree, carols, and even Old Santa Claus to be present.

Courthouse Robbers In Eastern Part Of State Are Hunted

MONTROSE, Pa., Nov. 24.—(INS)—Burglars with a penchant for robbing courthouses were hunted today by state police in three northeastern counties.

Authorities have concluded that the same persons staged Thanksgiving Day robberies in the courthouses at Montrose and Tunkhannock and were frightened when they attempted to burgle the courthouse at Honesdale.

The thieves got $650 at Montrose and an undisclosed sum at Tunkhannock.

Susquehanna County Sheriff W. S. Hower said most of the money obtained at Montrose represented funds of the Republican county committee.

OUTDOOR RAMBLES with N. R. CASILLO

Hibernating big brown bat hanging from ceiling of cave. This is a common Pennsylvania species.

THE LONG SLEEP

A few years ago an incredible headline appeared in the nation's newspapers, to wit: Man Hibernates For The Winter. The story went on to tell about a Michigan storekeeper who took to his bed with the coming of cold weather and remained there until spring. The newswriters failed to state he periodically interrupted his "sleep" to take nourishment and perform the necessary bodily functions. However, in some of the northern Russian provinces where food is scarce and the winters very severe, the people have adopted a mode of living in the winter that is akin to hibernation.

Man lacks the specialization that makes it possible for certain furry mammals to hibernate successfully. Accordingly, only a potion as potent as that given Rip Van Winkle by his Catskillian kegler colleagues could produce in man a state of dormancy which we commonly refer to as hibernation.

Yet, despite the contradictory aspects of the above, there are mammals which regularly hibernate. The chances are that most readers can name the so-called "seven sleepers." In case you can't, they include, the bear, the groundhog, the chipmunk, the raccoon, the skunk, the little brown bat, and the jumping mouse.

Hibernation is not much of a feat for the cold-blooded creatures such as insects, fishes, frogs, toads, turtles, and snakes. But for mammals like the seven sleepers whose normal body temperatures may range as high as 100 degrees, that state of torpidity during which the bodily functions are reduced to a low point is even more amazing than the fact that they again swing back into the full tempo of living when the time for them to do so is at hand. How the brain, nerves, eyes and other delicate body parts survive the experience is something that science cannot satisfactorily explain. Indeed, during hibernation the vital processes are at such a low ebb that to rudely awaken some animals frequently proves fatal.

Hibernation appears to be practically the same as ordinary sleep so far as physiological phenomena are concerned except that the temperature of a hibernating animal may be as low as that of the surrounding atmosphere. The heart beats slow down to 7 or 10 per minute while breathing is frequently suspended for hours at a time. The digestive system becomes completely inactive. Muscles take on the rigidity of death.

Temperature is only one of the factors that determines when animals go into their long sleep. If the creature is in good flesh he may betake himself to his den even while temperatures are still agreeable. Old bears as well as those which have not taken on enough fat have difficulty in settling for the winter sleep. Even if they do manage to become comatose they sleep fitfully and awaken often. Bears have been known to sleep so lightly as to be aroused by a leaky roof.

Chipmunks, skunks, and raccoons are comparatively light sleepers, awakening often and even venturing outside on mild winter days. The chipmunk is the most active, sleeping only for a day or two at a time, and regularly drawing on his abundant store of food.

Bats hibernate in buildings, hollow trees, caves and other places where temperatures are likely to remain in the high forties. The newly discovered Harlansburg caverns are ideal for hibernating bats as was attested by the venturesome explorers.

The only animal with a day of his own on the calendar, namely, the groundhog, is also the best known of the seven sleepers. However, the latter accomplishment is eclipsed by his reputation as a weather prognosticator, something at which he is no more adept than some of our human forecasters.

Indianapolis Is Disappointed

Expected Atterbury Men Fail To Arrive

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24—(INS)—The hospitable citizens of Indianapolis began a long and possibly wearying diet—cold turkey—today because of a "lost battalion" of servicemen who didn't come to dinner.

The men were from Pennsylvania's 28th National Guard Division in training at nearby Camp Atterbury; the hosts, some 1,000 Indianapolis families who responded to an appeal by local newspapers and invited the soldiers to Thanksgiving dinner.

About 1,500 members of the 28th Division were expected to dine with the Indianapolis families, but only 1,000 left the camp and only 590 showed up at the appointed meeting place, a center in downtown Indianapolis.

Lot Of Families Disappointed

That left a lot of families with an undistributed bird. One woman who said she spent her whole week's salary on an elaborate dinner for the servicemen called it "one of the biggest messes I've ever seen."

Camp Atterbury officials accepted some of the blame. A spokesman said an unexplained last-minute transportation shortage developed ond only 1,000 men were put aboard buses to Indianapolis.

Then one of the two bus lines carrying the men dropped their passengers off at the regular depot, several blocks from the center where the hosts were waiting.

Less than 60 per cent of the soldiers made it to the center. Army officials said they could not explain what happened to the remaining men.

Mrs. Dorothy Buschmann, one of the sponsors of the plan, said: "All of these families were very disappointed. But they have been very courteous about it."

Inspiring Music Captivates Symphony Concert Crowd

Conductor of the New Castle Symphony orchestra, Anthony Casbero checks over the score used in this season's opening concert, with Miss Adrian Fisher, soloist.

Music is like a rare delicacy that people are at times hesitant to taste, but after the first bite always come back for more.

The New Castle Symphony orchestra, under the direction of the ambitious Anthony Casbero, demonstrated just what "good eating" music could be to the large crowd that witnessed the first concert of the third season at the Cathedral on Wednesday evening.

During the evening of genuine music-making each number seemed to come alive for the audience, as Mr. Casbero offered a program that included music of all tastes and communicated the essential character of each number. The movement of his hands and arms in directing the orchestra displayed energy, analytical insight and imagination. The orchestra itself revealed a well-coordinated ensemble and the rapport between the conductor and orchestra was evident throughout the evening.

Mozart's Overture to "The Marriage of Figaro" opened the program and characterized all the grace and gentleness which is suggestive of the music of Mozart. The short introduction of the "First Movement Symphony Number One in C Major" by Beethoven brought the audience to the spirited principal theme in the main body of the number.

Eloquence To Piano

Highlighting the concert was the appearance of Miss Adrian Fisher, who might easily be called a woman who brings eloquence to a piano. The orchestra seemed to catch inspiration from her artistry as she played the Concertstuck in F Minor" by Weber, whose music displayed a richness and imagination that carried the crowd into the theme of the story. Miss Fisher revealed a penetrating comprehension of Weber's style and musical thought. She has perfect mastery, which from the very first notes, captivated her audience and communicated to it the sincere emotion which gave so much beauty and admirable expression to her playing.

The remainder of the program included a selection by Mozart and one by Ippolitow-Iwanow, each showing a colorful study of the individual. A world of fantasty was brought to life in the stout-hearted men from "The New Moon" by Romberg, and proved to be a favorite of the enthralled audience. Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite Number One" is the music for the Ibsen's drama "Peer Gynt", and depicts several uncanny and grotesque scenes of the play. In conclusion the orchestra played the March Militaire Francaise from "Suite Algerienne" by Saint-Saens, which is brimful of rhythmic life and gaiety.

From the attention and applause of the audience it is evident that the people of New Castle and vicinity are becoming more "music conscious" with each program of the New Castle Symphony orchestra, and will continue to look forward to the concerts.

An important meeting of the board members of the Margaret Henry Home auxiliary will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the president, Mrs. Richard Marquis, Walmo.

The regular meeting of the Home Auxiliary will be held December 4 at 8:30 o'clock p.m. at Trinity Episcopal church. A membership report will be given at this time and members are requested to turn in the names and addresses of the new members which they have secured. The auxiliary is still striving for its goal of 2,000 members.

Mrs. Walter Fulkerson, secretary, announces that anyone who hasn't been contacted may mail a dollar to her, and she in return will send them membership cards to the auxiliary.

Croton Pupils Mark Thanksgiving Season

A highly enoyable Thanksgiving program was presented at the Croton school on Wednesday when the entire school joined in an assembly period to mark the holiday.

The musical numbers were under the direction of Miss Temoy McFate, with the main program under the supervision of Miss Mildred Sargeant. Grades four and five presented a play, "The Origin of Thanksgiving in America" which was a historical play and was well received.

A special feature of the program was an accordion solo by Brenda Carrigan. Rev. Henry J. Payden pleased with two Thanksgiving solos. The program closed with the audience singing "America The Beautiful" after which timely remarks were offered by Arthur H. Walker, principal of the school.

Women Own Much Of Nation's Wealth, Lag In Management

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24 — (INS)—Women own 70 per cent of the nation's industrial wealth but they occupy a back seat in the management of business and industry.

They concentrate their wealth in well-known forms of corporate securities, but are apathetic toward the whole area of industrial finance.

Those were the complaints of Mrs. Elsie M Murphy, president of the New York textile firm of S. Strodck & Co., at a meeting of the Investment Women's Club of Philadelphia.

"I want to see women owning stock in the companies that make her clothes, the food she buys for her family and the furniture and appliances she puts in her home," Mrs. Murphy observed.

What is the reason for that remark about a back seat in management?

"That," said Mrs. Murphy, "is because women are too willing to delegate their responsibilities to managerial groups who represent ownership only in theory." She elaborated:

"If woman, the owner of 70 per cent of our industry, is to have a wall put up between her and her property, under the theory that she is not fit to handle her property, then we are 70 per cent on the way toward complete divorcement of ownership and management—and all the social consequence that such a condition implies."

County Photo Group To Meet December 1

Members of the Lawrence County Photographic Society will witness a major film manufacturer's demonstration on Printon processing when they hold their next meeting on December 1. An educational film on the lumber industry will open the meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The members enjoyed a trip to the Phipps Conservatory Flower Show at Pittsburgh, recently. The various displays featured arrangements of orchids, African violets, mums and many other flowers of tropical origin. A visit was also made to the Buhl Planetarium, where there was a fish and aquarium show.

At the last club meeting presided over by Adam F. Pivovar, president of the Society of the National High School Award, photographers were shown through the auspices of Clayton Hofmeister.

The club's salon prints are now ready for exchange with other clubs.

All club members are invited to hear the lecture of Margaret Bourke-White, a "Life" writer and photographer at Westminster college, on Thursday, November 30, at 8:15 p.m.

In The Open

November's searching gusts have housecleaned every nook and corner of the timberland. The countryman walks through the denuded thickets and sees now revealed many of the domestic secrets the feathered folk kept so skillfully hidden during the warm months. In this thorn bush the weathered framework of the thrasher's nest; there just off the pathway the cozy cradle of the vireo. The brown cocoons of the wild cherry moth swing clearly revealed and the shellacked egg case of the big praying mantis gleams in the sun on its berry cane foundation. November's byways are ever exploratory pathways to new discoveries.

The gray Japanese lanterns hung in the trees by the white-faced hornets are now disclosed to public view. With the first hint of the knives and axes of Winter their occupants moved out, leaving these "outworn shells" to the idle workmanship of stray hunters, the acquisitive hands of small boys or the housekeeping instincts of the white-footed mouse.

Monstrous Hornet's Nest

One sunny day last October I pushed open the door to an abandoned outbuilding on an abandoned farm deep in the hill country. I almost poked my head right into a monstrous hornet's nest built square against the ceiling. A month earlier I would have paid dearly for that rough intrusion.

When the grapes were hanging sun-ripe in the arbors on a neighboring farm we noticed many of the pretty white-faced fellows tippling joyously, and soon traced them down to a tremendous paper castle hung up in a cherry tree convenient to their grape juice supply. These busy little colonists knew the art of making waterproof paper long before Egypt turned from her stone records to the crude papyrus scrolls.

Not the least remarkable thing about these paper nests is the fact that they can be cut down and brought into the house with impunity. It seems strange that so admirable a construction, the result of the combined labor of an organization which exceeds anything man has ever attained, should be so summarily discarded and forgotten. But the law of the hornet clan dictates that each new season must be greeted with new houses.

Wood scrapings from weather-beaten old barns, or slab piles, or dead snags in the forest, are chewed to a pulp and mixed with saliva in the proper proportion to wind up as strong gray paper when trowelled onto the expanding nest. The slim brown wasps who build the open combs beneath the eaves of our house spend hour after hour in the garden rows scraping wood fibres off the tomato and dahlia stakes.

Hit With Speed Of Bullet

While the drones are stingless and generally lazy louts, the worker hornet is a white-faced fury when defending the nest. She can hit with the speed and accuracy of a flying bullet, and with similar devastating results. But she is a useful citizen, a great destroyer of flies and mosquitoes. On long midsummer evenings when the wild folk make merry in the thickets, her gray lanterns swing above the carnival, lit by the fireflies' dazzling gleam.

I wrapped myself around some frost-ripened persimmons the other day. They were pulpy and sweet, and altogether delightful. The handful I brought along home received only lukewarm welcome, the rest of my family not appreciating the better things of life.

On the hillside above the tiny persimmon grove I watched the aerial maneuvers of a traveler thrown free by a young tulip poplar. Smitten by wanderlust, this lone winged carpel, weighted by the seeds in its base, came whirling straight up the hillside, riding a convenient November breeze. Like a tiny helicopter it fluttered along until it had traveled better than one hundred and fifty feet from the parent tree. Then it settled softly to the moist earth.

There were 'No Hunting" signs posted prominently all over that weedy hillside. On the ground directly beneath one of these notices I found a loaded 12-gauge shotgun shell, apparently dropped by a hunter reloading his scattergun while leaning against the prominent poster.

The countryman moves through wooded ravines that once knew the plaintive yelp of the wild turkey, thankful that not only on every fourth Thursday in November, but on every day down the long calendar year he can still escape the tensions and irritations of his four-walled existence by simply closing up his desk, putting on his hat, and vaulting the nearest roadside fence.

ELECTRICAL TIPS FOR THE HOME

If Your Bathroom Light Casts Annoying Shadows and Glare . . .

DON'T think you have to center one fixture over the bathroom mirror. A lamp placed in this position casts shadows on the neck and chin, makes shaving and other close-seeing jobs difficult.

DO install two fluorescent or incandescent fixtures—one on each side of the mirror. For shadowless, glarefree light, center the lamps at 5 feet, 2 inches high and cover them with translucent shields.

Traffic Near Standstill In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24—(INS)—Traffic was at a virtual standstill on all highways leading into Pittsburgh today as snow and ice resulted in the worst road conditions of the year.

As a cold wave accompanied by strong winds and snow flurries moved into western Pennsylvania, at least six persons were injured in Pittsburgh when their autos skidded on streets made hazardous by snow and ice.

Cinder crews were busy in the city and on the highways, and drivers were warned to use care in driving.

The weather bureau in Pittsburgh has predicted a low of five degrees above zero tonight, with the mercury rising no higher than 18 tomorrow and more snow forecast.

Routes 22 and 30 were reported clear farther east but north of Pittsburgh it was another story.

Erie reported more snow falling after six inches fell during the night. Crawford County had two to five inches.

The Turnpike from Irwin to Laurel Hill Tunnel was wet and freezing.

Constabulary Force In Germany Placed On Military Footing

By TOM AGOSTON
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

HEIDELBERG, Germany, Nov. 24.—The United States occupation army in Germany placed its constabulary force on a full military footing today.

The crack corps was "inactivated" as an individual unit and made a part of the U. S. Seventh Army, which has been brought back into service as a centralized fighting force—possibly the forerunner of an American contingent in a West European army.

Gen. Thomas T. Handy, commander-ni-chief of the U. S. European command, announced the new setup in two special orders.

Handy announced first that the American constabulary in Germany was "inactivated" effective today.

He then said that the U. S. Seventh Army was "reactivtaed" in Germany immediately and that the constabulary forces will become part of this army.

The reborn Seventh Army will consist of the celebrated First Infantry division and the constabulary forces which jointly had made up the previous occupation units in Germany.

Republic Of Israel Plans To Produce American Tobaccos

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—(INS)—The Agriculture department says that the Republic of Israel plans to begin commercial production of U. S. type tobaccos next year.

Israels' ministry of agriculture earlier reported that experimental plantings of U. S. flue-cured, burley and Maryland types proved commercial production economically worthwhile.

About 22 acres of new experimental plantings of flue-cured have recently been made in southern Israel and in the Jerusalem corridor besides about five acres planted earlier in Neot Mordechai.

The department says that if these plantings prove successful it is expected that about 110 additional acres of flue-cured will be planted on irrigated land in 1951.

The American-born duchess commented, "they're very nice and convenient."

The duchess is at the Waldorf-Astoria for a four-months American visit. The duke, she said, was detained in Paris on business and will join her November 30 or December 9.

Parents Receive Word Of Bravery Of Son Killed In Korea

Reports of the supreme sacrifice made by a young Marine from Wilmington township were received in greater detail by the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lewis during the past week. Their son, Cpl. William Lewis, was killed in line of duty in Korea, according to information wired to them early in October.

Chaplain O. Ingvolstad, who was with the First Marine Division, wrote that Bill had been killed in action near Seoul September 24, with burial being made at the First Marine Division cemetery, No. 1, at Inchon, September 27. Services were read by Chaplain Ernest A. Ham. On October 8, Division Memorial services were conducted with full military honors being paid to the young corporal. Several of his battalion took part in the rites.

Lt. Col. H. S. Roise, commanding officer, also wrote to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis recently. He told of Bill's being fire team leader, and of his leading his men in a drive to gain an enemy held ridge. It was during this action that he was first hit and injured by grenade fragments. Continuing toward the ridge, he was killed by enemy rifle fire. The commanding officer stated that Bill's bravery was an important factor in the winning of their objective. Just one day before meeting his death, the local boy had won the Silver Star for gallantry.

Francis Matthews, Secretary of the Navy, also sent the Honorable Service Certificate to the parents.

Before entering the Marines, Bill had lived with his parents at Route 1, New Wilmington. He was 25 years of age at the time of his death.

Around Hollywood

By JAMES PADGITT
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 24.—Mack Sennett, the pioneer Hollywood figure who introduced cheesecake and custard pie throwing comedians to the silver screen, thinks that a dash of slapstick here and there would pep up today's ailing movie box office.

The Keystone Kop mentor recalled:

"The slapstick comedy of the old days was like a college of hard knocks. Some of the great names of the screen graduated from the bathing beauty and custard pie class. . . . Names like Gloria Swanson, Wallace Beery, Marie Dressler, Mabel Normand, Harold Lloyd, Frank Capra, Frank Fay, and Louise Fazenda."

The veteran producer lamented that the art of slapstick went out the window when double features became the thing. Now and then, in pictures like "The Fuller Brush Man" and "The Fuller Brush Girl" when they hired former Sennett slapstick directors to handle certain units, the old time belly laugh type of comedy creeps in.

Sennett recalled that the performers in his comedies had to emote or else. When they wanted the leading man to look exhausted for a scene, Sennett had a couple of strong men take the actor out and wrestle with him and run him up and down for 15 minutes. The actor was exhausted.

One of his leading ladies was supposed to leap from her chair greatly shocked at a bit of action. They shocked the gal all right—with a battery and a live wire and the actress almost crashed through the wall of the set.

Television, Sennett thinks, is going to bring about a revival of slapstick. The old-time shorts now being shown on video have received such an enthusiastic response that the old keystone kop comedies are being shown over and over again.

Revives Comedy

Just to give the customers what he thinks they want, Sennett has ready four of his best giggle-getters—maybe something with W. C. Fields, Bing Crosby, Charlie Chaplin, Mabel Normand and the Keystone Kops—for release as a feature film in the manner of the British success, "Quartet."

Sennett also is two-thirds along on a "slapstick novel" which he calls "Don't Step On My Dreams," inspired by an old saying of his mother's.

Mack Sennett's own life story has been bought by Paramount and it is being prepared as a starring vehicle for Betty Hutton to be complete with truckloads of custard pies, break-neck chases and every wheeze from the slaptick department.

Sennett deplores the current crop of movies in which the central characters are suffering from all manner of diseases, insanity or drug or alcohol addiction.

'U.S. Women Are Too Spoiled; And Want Too Much'

BERWICK, Pa., Nov. 24.—(INS)—Pretty, dark-haired Egyptian movie queen Amira Amir doubts today that American men could endure more than one wife because U. S. women are "too spoiled and want too much".

Miss Amir, a 23-year-old Cairo beauty who has been in pictures since she was 14, said most American males would be unable to provide for the extravagant desires of more than one wife.

In Egypt, she explained, Mohammedan and Jewish men are able to support as many as four wives because Egyptian women are more conservative in their spending.

"But the American husband", Miss Amir predicted, "would shoot himself by the time he got a second wife, let alone four of them. American women are just too spoiled and want too much."

She said that in her country multiple marriages work like this:

"If one wife buys a red dress, the husband must buy three more red dresses for his other wives."

In America, Miss Amir declared, such a policy would never work out staisfactorily because the U. S. husband would go bankrupt trying to provide for the "extravagance of his wives".

The Egyptian glamour girl, now on a two months vacation, just completed her first American film, a musical entitled "Everybody Sings". She handles both acting and dramatic roles in the picture.

Miss Amir has been visiting her sister, Mrs. George Hanko, in Berwick, for the past two days.

The Gregorian calendar gains slightly more than 44 minutes every century, making an error of one full day in about 3,261 years.

Huge Star Will Again Shine Over Bethlehem, Penna.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 24.—(INS)—A huge man-made star will light the heavens over Bethlehem next Thursday night, heralding once again the coming of the King of Peace.

But this year the giant electric star atop Bethlehem's south mountain will serve as more than just a reminder that the Christmas season is at hand.

It will be a sort of a star-in-the-window, reminding the nation that its sons are fighting once again for peace and freedom for all men of good will, no matter what their religious beliefs.

Pennsylvania's town of Bethlehem has been making much of Christmas ever since it was founded on Christmas eve 209 years ago by a group of German Moravian immigrants who came to America seeking the peace and religious freedom that Europe denied them.

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(INS)—The tunic line is the best torso line for next season.

Designers today are figuring on a big revival of the tunic which flares out to conceal sheath-hugged hips. It'll be a break for tall girls, and a cryin' shame for shorties, because the total effect is a cutting-off of height.

The tunic comeback will result in many more two-piece dresses than are being shown this winter season. But even on frocks that don't boast separate tunics, the "tunic-effect" will be present in the form of lines of tucks, tiers or peplums around the hips.

To balance the jutting hip motif, shoulders will return to heavier padding

Health Talks

THE OLD ONES ARE?

Granddad talks about the good old days. He thinks that the young people are going to the dogs.

He seems to forget that he is largely responsible for present conditions. He helped to make them that way.

The young people could tell him a lot of things that would help him if he would only listen.

He forgets about the mud holes and the monotonous diet and the poor school and a lot of other drawbacks.

He compares the worst of today with the best of yesterday and his poor memory helps him too.

We youngsters are doing pretty well, thank you, ma'am.

IRON AID

NEW YORK—(INS)—A new device for your home makes ironing day much easier. It's a clothes sprinkler that makes bottle-shaking obsolete. This device is on the end of a hose that can be slipped over a faucet. All you have to do is push the button and the sprinkler produces a fine mist, dampening your clothes evenly.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

An oldie but still good is the story of the cranky storekeeper in a backwoods Alabama town who told a traveling salesman, "Things is so high, nobody hereabouts has got money fer anything." The salesman started to blame the administration when he suddenly recalled he was in Alabama, and apologized. "Sorry, I forgot everybody in these parts is a Democrat." "We sure are," agreed the storekeeper. "Voted straigth Democrat all my life, and my Pappy and Grandpappy afore me. But let me tell you something, mister. If you Damyankees don't stop voting Democratic too, yer gonna ruin this whole darn country."

The growing popularity in France of a cola drink America has cherished for years had the wine industry in such a tizzy, it tried to persuade the French government to ban the sale of the concoction by a legal injunction. The bill was defeated. One American correspondent says the Council probably cried, "Let 'em eat Coke!"

Rose Bowl Trip, Several Titles Riding On Grid Games Saturday

Illinois Needs Victory, Unbeaten Teams Face Test

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The nation's college football elite charge into the homestreatch this weekend with mass dreams of perfect seasons, conference championships and post-season bowl invitations.

Some of them may find the last mile the longest, for many of the rivalries are traditional affairs noted for nuturing upsets.

Among the undefeated teams, Princeton (8-0) plays Dartmouth (3-4-1); Clemson (7-0-1) meets Auburn (0-8); Kentucky (10-0) plays Tennessee (8-1); Oklahoma (8-0) seeks its 30th in a row against Nebraska (6-1-1), and California (9-0) entertains Stanford (5-3-1).

Miami, Fla. (7-0-1) is host tonight to Iowa (3-4-1), which last week tied Notre Dame.

Titles At Stake

Nebraska, by defeating Oklahoma, could tie the Sooners for the Big Seven title. Princeton needs to win to clinch the Ivy League as Penn (6-2) carries an unblemished league record into action against Cornell (6-2). California is in a similar spot in the Pacific Coast conference. Washington (7-2) still could take the championship by topping Washington State (4-2-2) should California lose.

The most complex situation of all exists in the Big Ten, where the twin objectives are the conference title and a Rose Bowl berth opposite California or Washington.

Illini Needs Victory

Ohio State (6-2) can clinch the title by stopping its ancient nemesis, Michigan (4-3-1), but the Bucks can't go to the Rose Bowl because they were there last year. Michigan can win the championship and the Bowl bid if Illinois (7-1) loses to Northwestern (5-3).

Illinois can nail down the Bowl bid by defeating Northwestern, and the conference laurels as well if Ohio State loses. Wisconsin (5-3) can't win the championship but can go to the Rose Bowl if it defeats Minnesota (1-6-1) while both Illinois and Michigan lose.

Important Games

Other important games: Colgate at Rutgers, Fordham at NYU, Yale at Harvard, Penn State at Pitt, Alabama vs. Florida at Jacksonville.

Furman at Georgia, Davidson at Georgia Tech, Duke at North Carolina, Wake Forest at South Carolina, Vanderbilt at Tulane, Texas Christian at Rice, Baylor at Southern Methodist, Oregon vs. Oregon State at Portland, Southern California at UCLA.

Wyoming completed its nine-game schedule undefeated by clipping Denver yesterday, 42 to 12. Washington and Lee claimed the Southern conference championship with a 67-to-7 trouncing of Richmond. Columbia whipped Brown, 33 to 0, and VMI topped VPI, 27 to 0.

Bears-Rams Battle Sunday

League Leadership Will Be At Stake

(By International News Service)

Los Angeles and the Chicago Bears come to a showdown Sunday in the National Football league's National Conference.

Each has two losses, although the Rams have played one more game. Sunday's winner in Chicago will be an odds-on-favorite for the division title and a championship playoff berth.

The New York Yanks, third team in the National Conference picture, faded clear out of sight yesterday when they were roundly trounced at Detroit, 49 to 14. It was the Yanks' fourth defeat and left them only the faintest mathematical chance for a tie.

Detroit's victory—engineered by Bobby Layne, Doak Walker and Bob (Hunchy) Hoernschemeyer—registered the largest Lions' score in Briggs stadium. Hoernschemeyer ran 96 yards for the final touchdown.

Steelers Win

In the American Conference, the title picture should be clarified when the second-place New York Giants (7-2) entertain third-place Philadelphia (6-3). League-leading Cleveland is idle.

Pittsburgh took over fourth place yesterday by spanking the Chicago Cards, 28 to 17, with Joe Geri scoring two touchdowns and kicking four extra points.

Other Sunday games send Baltimore to Washington and San Francisco to Green Bay.

Hold La Motta Responsible For Writers' Dislike

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(INS)—If it is true that sports writers shape the tastes and opinions of the fans, then middleweight champion Jake LaMotta is the most hated man in sports.

Fight fans, says veteran sportswriter W. C. Heinz, "go to see Jake get licked, and they shout against him. They would go into hock if they thought they could see him stretched on the canvas, but he has never been knocked out."

In the November issue of Cosmopolitan magazine, Heinz reviews the possible reasons for LaMotta's unpopularity. He asserts that sports writers do not like Jake, but adds that LaMotta himself is directly responsible for his bad press.

The article recalls that the champion acquired a reputation for abusing his managers, that his first wife accused Jake of beating her, and that LaMotta was suspended and fined $1,000 by the New York State Athletic Commission after he lost to Billy Fox. At the time, Jake claimed he had suffered a ruptured spleen before the fight.

Officials Suspended

In 1949, two boxing officials were suspended after LaMotta won a very unpopular decision from Robert Villemain. Later in the year, Jake won the championship from a Marcel Cerdan who had injured a shoulder muscle in the first round after being thrown to the floor out of a clinch. Cerdan fought the next eight rounds one-handed. Less than a week before their scheduled return bout, LaMotta complained of a back injury and withdrew. Cerdan was killed in a plane crash enroute to this country for the re-match.

"Cerdan was a fine athlete and a gentleman," says Heinz. "Although LaMotta had not been piloting that plane, the public and the press recalled that he had been the one who had necessitated the original postponement."

Walcott-Layne Fight Tonight

Jersey Joe Holds Favored Role

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The International Boxing club is having its Thanksgiving turkey one day late at Madison Square Garden tonight, when Rex Layne opposes Jersey Joe Walcott, father of six.

Walcott, who lists among his achievements a victory over Harold Johnson 20 years after he had beaten Harold's father, is seeking to become the only man in history to try for the heavyweight title four times. Already he is the only man who tried for it three times, which he did in 1947, 1948 and 1949.

Walcott Favored

Tonight the 37-year-old Walcott will attempt to make a stepping stone out of the 22-year-old Layne, who comes from Lewiston, Utah, with a record of 19 knockouts and only one loss in 28 professional bouts.

Despite Layne's speed and youth, Jersey Joe is favored at about 3 to 1. What he is going to do after he beats Layne is a moot point. Jersey Joe says that there are only three men worth considering in the heavyweight picture—Ezzard Charles, Joe Louis and himself.

Etchinson And La Rance Meet In Arena Ring

Women who have seen wrestlers on television have an opportunity Wednesday night to see some of their favorites in person, when they meet in bouts in The Arena, according to the Jefferson A. C., which has announced that cut prices for women will prevail November 29. They'll be seated in a women's section.

The bouts Wednesday night contain some who have never wrestled here prior to Wednesday, and some who have.

New Faces

The men in the feature bout, Ronald Etchinson and Jules La Rance, French-Canadian champion, will be making their debut.

Both are said to be exceptionally good and efforts to mate Ronald with Buddy Rogers, or Nature Boy are being made by "Papa" Etchinson, who like his son, is active on the mat.

In fact "Papa" Etchinson is willing to gamble $1,000 his son "Ronnie" can pin "Nature Boy's" shoulders to the mat.

Against La Rance he will have his work cut out because Jules, in the Beaver Falls show last Saturday night made a big hit.

Among those who will also appear Wednesday night is Bobby Ford, who like Etchinson is one of the most fair-faced and best formed men on the mat. He will appear with Angelo Poffo against Ivan Rasputin and Jack Vansky in the Tag. Sammy Berg opposes Billy Venable in the semi-final match.

Kolcz Selecting K. Pulaski Five

Tonight at 8 o'clock the K. Pulaski "Big Five" will stage its final practice of the pre-season at the K. P. hall with coach Teddy Kolcz set to select his 1950-51 players. The season opens next Tuesday against an opponent unnamed as yet.

The K. Pulaskis have booked the All-American "Red Heads" for a game at the Arena on Sunday, December 3, it was announced by business manager Eddie Carr. The girls put on a great show here last year.

The K. Pulaski "Big Five" is booking and would like to play any city or county team in the district. Those desiring games may call Eddie Carr, 5043-W, between the hours of 5-7 in the evenings or 9175, K. Pulaski club. Ted Kolcz has a fine array of stars and hopes to have a championship team in his first attempt in coaching.

SOCCER BATTLE SATURDAY

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 24.—(INS)—Eight Penn State seniors end their soccer college careers tomorrow when the once-beaten Nittany Lions face always-formidable Temple at Philadelphia.

All-American Harry Little of Dover, York county, is among the out going seniors of Penn State soccer team.

Sixteen Pitt Senior Gridders Will Wind Up College Careers Saturday

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22.—The annual clash of the Pitt and Penn State elevens at the stadium Saturday afternoon will mark the close of the 1950 collegiate grid season in Pittsburgh, and a slambang battle is expected in the 50th meeting of the series.

Pitt will have its first string backfield back in action after being handicapped last week against Michigan State due to injuries to three members of the quartet. The trio is fullback Joe Capp and halfbacks Bill Sichko and Bill Reynolds. Capp injured a shoulder against Notre Dame, Reynolds received a rib injury in a practice scrimmage last week, and Sichko has been nursing a torn rib cartilage for several weeks. Reynolds saw limited duty against Michigan State and Sichko was in for several plays on defense.

Sixteen Seniors

Charley Yost, a veteran tackle, is to dress for the game and see some action. He received a knee injury on the opening kickoff of the first game of the season, against Duke, and has been sidelined all season.

Yost is one of 16 senors who will wind up their collegiate football careers at Pitt Saturday. The others are center, George Radosevich; guards, Mike Boldin, Larry Pierce, Charles Thomas and Don Karanovich; takles, Sam DeFede, Nick Bolkovac and Flint Greene; ends, Ted Geremsky, Nick DeRosa, Harry Hollihan and John Masarik; quarterback, Fred Botti and halfback Joe O'Bara.

St. Marys Buried Under 45-0 Score

The Youngstown Dons, independent team from Youngstown, buried New Castle St. Marys under seven touchdowns to win a Thanksgiving Day battle at Union high field, 45 to 0.

Jim Phifer led the touchdown parade with four; Briggs, Sanders and Turner, each tallied once. Croft, led the visitors defensively.

Marshall and Latsko played well for the Saints.

Rookie Bill Pierro of the Pirates picked up the nickname "Wild Bill" during his major league debut against the Boston Braves at Forbes field.

Bomber-Cub Game Postponed Until Sunday Afternoon

Four inches of snow in Butler Thursday afternoon forced postponement of the DeCarbo Bomber-Butler Cub football game until Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The game was scheduled for 2:30 Thursday, but due to the snow storm both teams deemed it wise to postpone the encounter until better weather.

Mohawks Trim Hershey Bears

(By International News Service)

Goalie Emile "The Cat" Francis is one big reason why the Cincinnati Mohawks are the surprise club in the American Hockey League this season.

The Mohawks' classy goaltender turned in another good job last night while his teammates were whipping the Hershey Bears, 2-1. The victory kept the Mohawks a game behind the Cleveland Barons, pacesetters in the western division.

Junior Church League Play Is Organized

A meeting was held Wednesday night at the YMCA for organization of the junior church league teams. In all, 12 teams were represented by adult advisors and captains.

It was decided to divide the teams into two leagues, A and AA. Most of the teams are holdovers from last year's league play, which means that teams in both leagues will offer strong competition.

League play is scheduled to begin Saturday, Dec. 2, with all games to be played on Saturday between 3 and 7:30 p. m.

The A league will play the first three games and the AA league the last three.

Toronto Nips Red Wings, 2-1

(By International News Service)

The Detroit Red Wings' streak of ten games without a loss has come to an abrupt finish.

The league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs nipped the Wings in a rough-and-tumble National Hockey League encounter last night, 2 to 1, and handed Detroit its first loss on home ice.

The game, marked by 23 penalties, came to a climax at 5:29 of the last period, when Toronto's Bill Barilko clubbed Bob Goldham on the head with his stick, Goldham chased him half way down the ice to retaliate.

That touched off a free-for-all involving every player on the ice except the goalies.

At Chicago, the Chicago Blackhawks broke a four game losing streak as they defeated the Boston Bruins, 4 to 1.

Tommy Henrich Turns To Radio

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The New York Journal American said today it has learned that Yankee outfielder Tommy Henrich, whose playing career has been shortened by a bad leg, will broadcast games for the Bronx Bombers next baseball season.

Sports editor Max Kase said that "Old Reliable" will be named to fill the job left by the departure of Curt Gowdy to Boston and will collaborite in front of the microphone with Mel Allen in airing both home and road games.

Kase said details remain to be worked out but it is expected they will be successfully negotiated.

Don't Shoot Before 9 A.M. November 27

Do not shoot at a doe before 9 a.m., Monday, November 27. If one does, and a game protector is near, the hunter will be arrested and upon conviction fined $15, and costs. However, on the next day of doe season, which is Tuesday, November 28, the hunter can bang away at 7 a.m.

Buck season comes in November 29, at 7 a.m., according to Deputy Sherriff Thomas O'Brien who issued the timely warning today. He said bucks cannot be shot during Monday and Tuesday in any county.

HERE and THERE IN SPORTS LAND

"THE COMING DEER SEASON seems to be more confusing to the average hunter than any past season that I can remember. I've had more telephone calls asking about the regulations than ever before," writes Seth Myers of Sharon, secretary, northwest division, Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen.

"Many have asked about starting time the first day. This is plainly answered on the license papers. It says no hunting of any kind before 9:00 a.m. on Monday, November 27, which is the first day of antlerless deer season. Tuesday, November 28, the second day and on through the season including December 9, the hours are from 7:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

"The pamphlets which are issued with the licenses answer nearly all of the questions except some technicalities which some of the fellows like to dig up for one reason or another. Every hunter should read his pamphlet throughly before leaving for a hunting trip.

"Such questions as, "Can I use a .22 Hornet to kill a deer?" can be answered this way: "It is legal to use this rifle to hunt deer, but I cannot guarantee it will kill a deer." Any rifle that shoots a center fire cartridge is legal for big game hunting in Pennsylvania. Only rim fire .22 and .25 calibres are not allowed.

"My advice to hunters who are really out to bring back their deer is to carry rifles that have real killing power. Rifles such as hornets, bees and zippers are little more than tormenters on big game unless in the hands of genuine rifle experts.

"The question with regards rosters is answered by the regulation which requires all parties of five or more hunters to have one roster posted on the camp and the party captain must carry a copy with him.

"The camp limit of six deer has been lifted this year and each one in a camp may kill a deer. It should be remembered that each deer must be tagged by its owner before starting away from the spot where it was killed. The big game tag which comes with the license must be used unless it has been used on bear. In this case, a substitute tag may be made which must carry the original information on it.

"Remember too, that buck season does not start in any county until Wednesday, November 29. A legal buck must have at least two points on one antler, and a point means a visible prong, not a pimple.

"All counties are open for antlerless deer on Monday and Tuesday except Bedford, Cameron, Center, Clearfield, Clinton, Elk, Franklin, Fulton, Juniata, Mifflin, Perry, Pike, Snyder and Sullivan. Be sure you know the county you're in when you start to hunt, and remember, 'Safety'."

Graziano Must Appear Today

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—(INS)—The latest chapter in "the Graziano story" disclosed that the fabulous Rocky is en route to Philadelphia today with coin of the realm to prove his sincerity to the State Athletic Commission.

Boxing's bad boy failed to appear for the second straight day yesterday for a physical prior to a scheduled 10-rounder Monday with Honeychile Johnson in Philadelphia.

Pennsylvania Athletic Commission John (OX) Degrosa advised the former middleweight king he will face suspension if he does not show up by 11 a.m. today. He also demanded that the Rock post an appearance forfeit of $1,500.

Penn Gridders Given Warning

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Penn's gridders, still riding high in the wake of last week's stunning 20-0 whitewash of Wisconsin, were warned against overconfidence today by coach George Munger.

But the warning was mere routine, because this Saturday's opponent is the Big Red from Cornell, the traditional rivals who bring down the curtain on Penn's annual pigskin pageant.

The players are naturally keyed up for the Cornell game,

State And Rutgers Extend Grid Series

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 24.—(INS)—Penn State and Rutgers athletic officials today agreed to extend their current two-year football contract for two more years, providing yearly games through 1953.

The Lions and Scarlet, opponents a week ago for the first time since 1918, will play at New Brunswick in 1951, at State College in 1952 and at New Brunswick again in 1953.

New York Stocks

Stock Market Trend Upward

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—(INS)—The stock market advanced on a broad front today. Demand was stimulated by news of a new United Nations offensive in Korea and the possibility of a quick ending of the war there.

Trading was active, with the ticker lagging for a brief period soon after the opening.

Industrial issues were in the forefront of the rise. Among the leading gainers were Texas Gulf Sulphur up 1⅞ at 94½, American Cyanamid up 1⅛ at 75½, Reynolds Metals up 1 at 41½, General Motors up 1 at 48⅞, Chrysler up 1⅛ at 71¼, Kennecott Copper up 1¼ at 74, and DuPont up 1½ at 82¾.

The bond market was mixed with many rails easier.

Commodities were weak. Rubber led the downward movement with a limit decline of 4 cents a pound, cotton lost $2 a bale, wheat was off 2¼ cents a bushel and corn was down 1¾ cents a bushel.

Kiwanis Has Fine Program

Oil City Pastor Is Heard Wednesday

New Castle Kiwanis club enjoyed one of the outstanding programs of the year at the noon luncheon meeting Wednesday, when Rev. H. Bielenberg, pastor of the Christ Lutheran church of Oil City, presented a series of color slides entitled "Footprints of the Creator", which he accompanied by an excellent sermon, revealing the beauty of God in nature.

The pictures were of outstanding beauty spots mostly in Pennsylvania, of flowers and trees and nature in all seasons, each tree and plant, he stated, being a miracle of God.

Rev. Bielenberg has made color photography an interesting hobby, and has had 81 slides accepted in 26 exhibitions throughout the country, ranking him at the top in this field.

In addition, he has been called upon to serve as judge in three outstanding exhibitions at Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh and Rochester, N. Y., and has received a number of awards during the past year.

He holds top position in the listing of "Who's Who in Color Photography", a publication issued monthly by the Photographic Society of America.

ROLL MAKERS

NEW YORK — (INS) — To give home-made rolls a professional look, you can buy a roll cutter today. Here's the way it works: Make the dough for the rolls and spread it out ready for cutting. Then pick up the cutter and use it just as you would a cookie cutter. The cutter has four prongs, and makes professional-looking dents in the roll.

School lighting is a factor in the growth, development and visual welfare of children.
